CANADA FORMALLY CLAIMS ALL LAND
UP TO NORTH POLE

Northern Territories Act Amended in Dominion House of Commons—
Explorers Must Be Licensed.

INTERIOR MINISTER
MAKES STATEMENT

Sovereignty Over All Portions, Discovered or Undiscovered, Asserted by the Government.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
OTTAWA, June 3.—Sovereignty over all lands lying between the mainland of the Dominion and the North Pole was claimed by the Government of Canada through Charles Stewart, Minister of the Interior, in the House of Commons in the course of discussion which preceded final adoption of an amendment to the Northern Territories Act.

Under this amendment, all foreigners entering the hinterland of Canada will be required to take out a Federal license.

"We are asking for this amendment," said Stewart, "in order that we may have authority to notify parties going into these regions
that they must obtain a permit, thereby asserting our ownership
and sovereignty over the whole Northern Hemisphere."

This will apply to men like Dr.
MacMillan and Dr. Amundsen, who are going into these regions for exploratory purposes, but as a result of whose explorations a question may arise as to sovereignty over newly explored territory which they may discover in the north portion of Canada.

"We claim all undiscovered or undiscovered," said Stewart, "in order that we may have authority to notify parties going into these regions that they must obtain a permit, thereby asserting our ownership and sovereignty over the whole Northern Hemisphere."

"This summer's expedition will be in a region lying partly north of the Dominion, but the greater part will be north of Alaska. If we find anything undiscovered, we will claim it for the Dominion. We were told that the Canadian claim was left in the Crocker Land expedition. We sailed for 150 miles across the Polar Sea and took from the maps land which had previously shown on them but which was not there."

In the report of the statement
by Minister Stewart, it was said that Canada does not claim Greenland or territory directly north of Alaska or Greenland. A commission, it was said, was establishing Canada's right to lands between it and the Pole.

Invited From Sleep, She Asks

BABY, PLAYING WITH PISTOL, KILLS MOTHER

Boarder at Home of Chicago
Victim Tells of Shooting at Breakfast.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, June 3.—An automatic pistol, given to a 16-month-old girl as a plaything caused her mother's death today, according to a story told the police by James Cody, a boarder at the home of the victim, Mrs. Cella Rose. Cody, the only witness to the tragedy, said Mrs. Rose and he had had breakfast early before other members of the family were awake. This morning the baby in an adjoining room, awoke and began to cry. The mother went to her and the child quieted.

"I asked her what ailed the baby," said Cody, "and she told me
it wanted a gun, which was on the bureau, to play with. She said she gave it to her. She pulled the baby's bed into the kitchen and we
later there was a shot and Mrs.
Rose fell over dead. The baby must have discharged the pistol accidentally."

Other members of the household,
including the woman's husband,
and the latter's parents, and a brother, corroborated Cody's story that they were asleep when the tragedy occurred.

SCHWEITZER MAY PUT ILLEGAL RAIDS
UP TO GRAND JURY

Prosecuting Attorney Says
Private Residences Have Been Invaded Without Search Warrants.

CALLS ATTENTION
TO LAW ON SUBJECT

Cites Two Instances of Homes Here Ransacked
by Persons Who Used Spurious Writs.

Prosecuting Attorney Schweitzer
today announced he would ask permission to appear before the grand jury and present facts regarding illegal raiding of private homes without search warrants.

Circuit Attorney Sidener, apprised of Schweitzer's announcement, said he would be glad to have him testify if he has evidence.
The Prosecuting Attorney told a Post-Dispatch reporter he has "concrete evidence" that private homes have been searched without warrants issued by the Prosecuting Attorney's office and signed by a Judge of the Court of Criminal Correction, as required.

Two instances were cited by Prosecuting Attorney Schweitzer
of persons in plain clothes, representing themselves to be police,
making raids on spurious warrants.
He said one of the homes raided in this manner was that of a woman about 75 years old on College avenue. The other was the home of a lawyer on De Touhy street. Both complained to Schweitzer, who found that no warrants had been issued to raid the homes, which are respectable and law-abiding.

A request on police for a report on the College avenue raid was made several days ago, but the report has not been received, Schweitzer said.

Schweitzer's Policy.
It has been the practice of the Prosecuting Attorney's office,
Schweitzer said, not to issue warrants to search private residences unless there is reasonable proof the law is being flagrantly violated.
Such proof is rarely offered, he added. He declared his office is opposed to promiscuous issuance of warrants.

In making a raid on a home, the law requires that the officer display his badge or credentials, read aloud the text of the search warrant and serve a copy of the warrant on the head of the house. If these requirements are not fulfilled, Prosecuting Attorney Schweitzer pointed out, the householder may refuse admittance.
Schweitzer urges anyone suspicious of raiders or warrants to communicate at once with his office, in the Municipal Courts Building.

F. Gorham Brigham.

The bulletin said "Secretary
Weeks' condition is not so favorable this morning. He had a restless night and has had some vomiting. His temperature is 100 and gress and George Platzer, an aviator, is preparing to take a mountain picture of the area. "Platzer

CITY EMPLOYEES
USED BY MILLER
TO GUARD BALLOTS

Building and Elevator Inspectors, Paid $185 a Month, Assigned to Job
as Republican Watchers.

BROD "PROMISES TO LOOK INTO MATTER"

Safety Director Says He Did Not Issue Order—Nolte Disapproves of Such Use of Inspectors.

Elevator and building inspectors,
who are paid $185 a month by the city, are being used for the task of watching ballot boxes in the care of the Election Board, to the exclusion of their regular inspection
work. The boxes contain the ballots which will figure in the Igou-Miller election contest.

This fact became known today,
in connection with inquiry into a fight which occurred last Thursday afternoon between an elevator inspector, Alfred H. Eisman, who was engaged in the watching task,
and Cliff Haley, newly appointed Commissioner of Weights and Measures.

A policeman is on duty constantly, watching the ballot boxes to prevent any attempt to remove or tamper with them. The Republican defenders of William L.
Igou's majority contest do not consider the police watch sufficient and Republican watchers have been stationed there in addition, working three shifts a day, as the Republican and Democratic watchers
do.

It was supposed that, these watchers were being paid by the Republican City Committee or the Miller-for-Mayor committee, but it has now developed that they are paid by the city, being employees
under the Director of Public Safety.

Inspector Eisman, who was on this work Thursday, was in the hallway outside the Election Board office, when he saw Commissioner Haley. Both Eisman and Haley were accused of beating up the Miller in the Twenty-second Ward and Miller's Republican committeewoman, and was an original Miller supporter.

Mrs. Eisman said today the trouble began when Haley said to her husband, "If you hear me saying that you ought to have let the weights and measures job, instead of me. Don't let me hear of your talking that way any more." Mrs. Eisman said her husband denied having made the remark, and that Haley then reached for his glasses, and hit Eisman again as he reached for his glasses. Both were taken to the police hospital, but the case was dropped without prosecution.

Owens had collected yesterday as rent, the robbers searched the parlor where the Owens had retired to get relief from the heat. Mrs.
Owens, awakened by them, screamed,
and when one of the men failed to stifle her outcries his companion shot her.

ANOTHER IN FAMILY FEUD

By the Associated Press.
HARRISONVILLE, Mo., June 3.
A feud between two families living near here yesterday cost the life of Harold Beamer, 15 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Beamer. He was killed by a revolver shot fired by William L.
Meyers, 15, or Louis Alley, 16,
who was visiting the Meyers home,
a Coroner's jury decided late today.

According to Mrs. Meyers, the Beamer boy, masked, and carrying a shotgun, entered her home and told her to get up her hands, and that he "meant business." He then told her daughter, Loretta, to call William and the Alley boy, who were playing in the barn.

When the two boys came in the Beamer boy, Mrs. Meyers continued, fired the shotgun at her and her son answered with a shot from the revolver. The Beamer boy fled and the Alley boy, whose home is and fired three times. Young Meyers testified at the in-

REORGANIZATION PLAN ANNOUNCED FOR C. M. & ST. P.

Provides for Assessment of $238 on Each Share of Preferred Stock, $32 on Common Holdings.

WOULD BE CREATED

Announcement Says $55,000,000 in 6 Per Cent Notes Held by Government Will Be Paid.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, June 3.—A plan of reorganization for the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railroad, comprising more than 11,000 miles of road, and having outstanding approximately $470,000,000 in bonds and $223,000,000 in stock, is announced by Kuhn, Loeb & Co., and the National City Co., reorganization managers. The railway went into a receivership on March 18.

The plan provides for an assessment of $238 a share on the $115,911,000 of preferred stock and one of $32 a share on the existing $117,411,500 of common stock. It would liquidate the $55,000,000 debt to the United States Government, and, by reducing interest-bearing securities from $459,211,136 to $241,000,000, would cut interest charges more than $10,000,000 a year.

Three new mortgages would be created. One, which would rank ahead of all other claims in the reorganization, would be used to provide funds for future capital expenditures. Another mortgage would secure the bonds which are to be given to the holders of the existing preferred and common stock of the St. Paul Co. for cash payments to be made by them.

Plans for Mortgages.
The last mortgage would be used to secure an issue of adjustment bonds limited to the amount necessary to make the exchanges provided by the plan.

Approximately $70,000,000 of new money would be raised under the plan, but only $60,000,000 of new securities would be issued. The other $10,000,000 would be retained to pay the expenses of the reorganization, which the reorganization managers estimate, may not approach that sum.

Senior securities, such as equipment trust securities, general mortgage and divisional mortgage bonds and guaranteed issues aggregating $238,000,000, of which approximately $181,000,000 are in the hands of the public, would not be disturbed.

Junior securities, such as the 4-per-cent gold bonds of 1925, the 4 1/2-per-cent convertible gold bonds, the general and refunding mortgage bonds, series A and B, and the Pugh Sound 4-per-cent issues, will receive $1000 principal of the new 5-per-cent adjustment mortgage bonds for each $1000 principal amount now held. The new bonds are to be known as "the 50-year 5-per-cent mortgage gold bonds."

Voting Rights of Stock.
The new company would have 2,000,000 preferred shares of $100 par value, of which $115,911,000 would be offered to holders of the present preferred shares. The new preferred stock is to be noncumulative and entitled to an annual dividend of $5 a share and to participate equally with the common stock after the latter has received $5 a share yearly. The preferred stock will have equal voting rights with the common stock. There are to be issued 1,174,113 common shares of no par value, all of which is to be offered to holders of the common stock deposited under the plan.

Obligations aggregating $185,000,000, which will mature in the next 10 years are to be funded into long-term obligations. Interest charges on $119,000,000 of these issues are to be dependent on earnings.

In order primarily to protect the bondholders during the period for which their new adjustment bonds are noncumulative, all the preferred and common stock of the new company issued in the reorganization is to be deposited under trust agreement by which the voting power would be vested in five trustees. Three of these are to be persons approved by the bondholders' committee, one by the preferred stockholders' committee and one by the common stockholders' committee.

Debt to Government.
Regarding the debt to the Government, the announcement says: "The plan provides that the 6 per cent notes of the railway company held by the United States Government for $25,000,000 and $10,000,000 dated respectively March 1, 1922, and December 15, 1922, are to be paid in full in cash. By such payment $18,000,000 of pledged general mortgage 5 per cent bonds are freed to the treasury of the new company."

"For the 6 per cent notes of the railway company held by the United States Government for $20,000,000 and dated Nov. 1, 1920 (which is secured by the pledge of $181,000,000 of general and refunding 6 per cent bonds), the plan offers to the Government the option to receive either:

"a) $17,000,000 cash and $2,000,000 par value of new preferred stock with full interest on the note to date of settlement, or
"b) $32,000,000 principal amount of the new adjustment bonds (based on the amount of general and refunding bonds now held as collateral for the note); interest on which is to be computed from the date to which interest is paid on the note."

pressure has been brought by threats involving families. American Women Organize.

Upon request of the Controller of Voluntary Services, the British Women's Association issued a call today to women of all nationalities to serve in any capacity and employers requiring women assistants were notified of this step.

Another feminine enterprise was headed by Irene Corbally Kuhn, New York newspaper woman, and Miss Viola Smith, formerly of San Francisco, Assistant United States Trade Commissioner. These women, through the American Women's Club, are organizing a women's auxiliary defense corps, offering the services of the unit in any capacity, including chauffeurs and nurses. The American women plan to establish immediately a motor canteen service supplying coffee and food to the forces on duty.

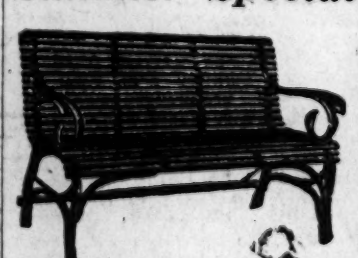

Two women will be assigned to each truck with one male shotgun guard. The women will serve two three-hour shifts daily. Propagandists are making special efforts to foment strikes in hotels, boarding houses and residences.

Strikes have crippled two morning newspaper plants—the China Press and the Shanghai Times—while the only other morning paper, the English-owned North China Daily News, retains its printers and is in some difficulty. The Shanghai Mercury, an evening paper, is confronted with a strike, also. The only paper entirely unaffected in the evening field is the Evening News, edited by an American.

30 ARRESTS IN COUNTY ON HEADLIGHT CHARGES

Mayor Cunningham Displeased at Action of Deputies of Constable Roth.

Thirty motorists charged with having glaring headlights were arrested last night in University City by deputies of Constable George Roth and were booked for trial before Justice of the Peace Gould of Webster Groves. The arrests were made on Olive street road east of Ferguson avenue where the deputies tested the lights to determine whether or not they conformed with the law.

Mayor Cunningham of University City today expressed his displeasure at the action of Roth's men, pointing out that the University City police are capable of dealing with their own traffic problems. While Roth's men get fees for arrests, however, the police do not.

Each motorist who is fined will have to pay $7.50 in costs. Of this $3.40 goes to the Constable, $2.20 to the Justice of the Peace who hears the case and $1.90 to the deputy who makes the arrest. No mileage fees are paid.

work of Russian and Chinese communists, saying the movement is being fostered by educational institutions under the direction of the Russian Embassy and the Russian consulate here.

General Uprising Urged.
Street speakers last night told crowds of coolies that they outnumbered the forces that could overwhelm them within a single hour, if they would but join a general uprising.

Delegations of students paraded all roads into the city, in an attempt to bring about a general strike of incoming farmers and preventing the bringing of food into the city.

Minor outbreaks were reported last evening from the North Saichuen Road district, across Szechow creek. The disturbances seemed to be directed especially at the Japanese. Gangs stationed in alleyways, incited by Chinese soldiers, hurled all sorts of available missiles at street cars and automobiles. Japanese shops were attacked.

Chinese Police Stationed at Entrances to Legations in Peking.

By the Associated Press.
PEKING, June 3.—All Peking schools were closed today as students gathered at the National University for a demonstration against the activities of foreign forces at Shanghai.

A guard of Chinese police was stationed at the entrances to foreign legations. The legation guards held quarters in readiness for an emergency. The Chinese regard the situation as a serious one and considerable tension exists in the foreign community.

Reports received here from Nanjing indicate that disturbances are fomenting there. Students are reported distributing antiforeign hand bills there, with a view of promoting a general strike.

Troop Movement at Canton—Situation Reported as Grave.

CANTON, China, June 3.—Extensive movements of troops are being made here. Officials regard the situation as extremely grave and say fighting may be expected at any time. Train service has been suspended on all three railroads entering Canton.

ONE-MAN MEDICAL 'COLLEGE' MOVES HERE

McCormick School (Himself) Found Chicago Too Hostile.

The McCormick Medical College (himself) has shaken the dust of Chicago from its feet and come to St. Louis. The college, in the person of Dr. Charles McCormick, president, chairman of the board, dean and whatnot, is now getting settled in quarters at 4339 Lindell boulevard.

The advent of the college to St. Louis was heralded in "The Medicine" quarterly published by Dr. McCormick, a former printer and newspaper man, just to keep his hand in on the typewriter.

"The School and the Man are still on deck," trumpeted "The Medicine" in a recital of alleged outrages at the hands of Chicago newspapers and officials. "The Good People, who had to remain in Chicago, the Great Water Stealer and Political Hash-Pot, are sending us congratulations."

Dr. McCormick, a graduate of Miami Medical School, doesn't think much of medicine as practiced by orthodox physicians and may so, both in and out of the pages of "The Medicine." Just to show the orthodox physicians that they are wrong, he has written books setting forth his theories—books touching on many subjects in the doctor's inimitable fashion.

A Simple Theory.
"Neurology and ontology," for example, of which the doctor says "every bit has been proved in practice," covers "very completely," anatomy and physiology, chemistry and mechanics, symptomatology and analysis, hydratics and dietetics, manual and mental practice, disorders and their causes, standards natural and artificial, and a host of other technical classifications or what have you.

The doctor's theory of mature medicine is quite simple—easy enough to be taught in a non-technical manner. It is a system under which diseases and disorders are treated by dieting and exercises.

Just to show that he knows what he is doing, the doctor has compiled a book showing the chemical content of various foods. If you are tempted to eat dried apricots, for example, turn to page 50 and see how much iron you take into your system. Or if you need sulphur in your system, turn to another page and select sulphur-bearing food from the doctor's mathematical table.

A Stormy Career.
During its 15 years in Chicago the McCormick Medical School had a stormy career, stirred up largely by the doctor's publication. To a St. Louis Dispatch reporter who visited him yesterday he declared his enemies had made all his trouble there.

In May, 1924, on proceedings brought by his wife, Dr. McCormick was found insane by a jury and declared insane by a sanity commission. Later while he was in Elgin Hospital for the Insane, Supt. Hinton and another alienist pronounced him entirely sane and he was released.

"I intend to hold classes here," Dr. McCormick said yesterday, "and will give treatments to those who seek them. I am glad to be away from Chicago, where my enemies are so numerous that they are continually giving me trouble."

BARBER SHOP WOOD HAS MARCEL WAVE

It Warped and Buckled Says Proprietor in Suit—Given $100 to Take 'Kinks' Out.

William Palubak has a barber shop "for ladies only" on the second floor of the City Club Building. Being a barber shop "for ladies only," he felt that in place of the usual white furnishings of marble, like composition and hard, cold enamel, he would like to have something soft, warm and pleasing to the feminine eye.

So last August he got Richard T. Wandel, cabinetmaker contractor, to finish his shop in cypress wood paneling. There were eight booths in the shop, for women are different from men; they like to have their hair cut in privacy, far from the eyes and contemplations of others. Wandel made the eight booths of this cypress wood paneling, with little wood cross strips covering those cracks where the boards joined and to end, and over all this wood was painted a coat of gray paint, soft to the eye.

Also in a barber shop there must be racks or shelves on which to rest brushes and combs and those things. And instead of stone these racks were also made of wood, and over this wood was the soft gray paint. All for $527.

That Restless Wood.
Everything was fine until the wood got restless. Just how restless it got is a matter of opinion; the opinions of Palubak and Wandel. Palubak felt the wood had got restless enough to warrant him suing for $150 to have the fixtures fixed. And Wandel felt the wood's restlessness was of such little significance that he hired a lawyer to defend him in the case which came up before Justice of the Peace Moore's court.

"The wood warped," Palubak testified. "It buckled. There are big cracks where the panels pulled from their strips. Everything is ruined. My racks are ruined. They are all buckled, too. I got an expert to look at the place. He says it will take $150 to fix it."

The expert testified the barber was correct. Then Wandel took the stand and said the expert was wrong and so was the barber.

The Plaintiff's Story.
"Palubak came to me," said Wandel, "and told me to fix his place as cheap as possible. I told him to put three-thicknesses of boards on, but he said one thickness would be enough. He said, as he was going to paint them anyhow. He said he wanted it as cheap as possible as he had to get the money from his father. There's nothing much the matter with the place anyway. I will fix it and it will only cost me about $25. But he won't let me."

Then another expert testified for Wandel. He said around $25 would fix it. He said he didn't know just how badly the wood had bent, as when he went to see it Palubak wouldn't let him see the whole shop, saying, "wait till after the suit."

NINE CHIROPRACTORS FIGHT FEDERAL VACCINATION LAW

Members of a University at Capital on Trial in Washington to Test Congressional Act of 1897.

WASHINGTON, June 3.—Having refused to submit to vaccination for smallpox, nine members of the Chiropractic Research University are on trial in Police Court here in what they represent as a test case contesting the constitutionality of the compulsory vaccination law passed by Congress in 1897.

The defendants are Alonso B. Chatfield, head of the university; Mrs. Anne Chatfield, Blanche De Wolfe, Thomas Elias, John Fiegel, Jessie C. Jenkins, H. L. Lewis, Charles D. Stewart and Carrie Rockrohr.

Mrs. Harriet Stackhouse, a student of the Chiropractic Home, 1349 L street here, was found to be ill with smallpox Feb. 18, and health officers ordered the other occupants of the house to be vaccinated.

They refused and were taken to a quarantine station where they were held for 16 days and then released on collateral of $25 each.

Judge Schult listened to argument by counsel for several hours yesterday after a vain struggle to compel a jury. The first dozen jurors chosen all expressed the belief that vaccination prevented spread of smallpox and were dismissed while the court listened to argument over their eligibility.

George S. Evans of Oklahoma City appeared as counsel for the nine defendants and insisted the case was to test the national statute. Assistant Corporation Counsel McGarraghy contends the only issue raised is whether the District of Columbia law had been violated. The trial will continue for several days.

Police first noticed McGowan in a service car at Missouri Baptist Sanitarium. When he told police he did not wish to remain at that hospital, where he made a similar statement. The service-car driver told police he had already taken the man to Mullany Hospital before he encountered police, so a cell was decided as the proper place for him.

The service-car driver told police he got McGowan at a roadhouse on St. Charles road. McGowan said he was struck by a baseball but in an "accident" and refused to give further information. County authorities were asked to investigate the case.

VIENNA, June 3.—A "German People's League" is to be launched tomorrow with 1,000,000 members, according to supporters of the movement for the union of Austria and Germany. This, they assert, is their reply to the recent declaration by Premier Mussolini of Italy and Foreign Minister Benes of Czechoslovakia, against their agitation.

2-GUN BOY ROBBER AND A RED SWEATER

Poplar Bluff Lad's Career in Crime Cut Short by His Gaudy Attire.

Charles Shields, dressed in a pair of light trousers, a light cap, blue shirt and a flaming red sweater, arrived in St. Louis from Poplar Bluff, yesterday, here to practice highwaymanhood. He now resides at the House of Detention, and at the city jail, by the grace of his age, which is 17.

Shields, armed with a revolver and an empty automatic, was charged with the robbery of a man on Tenth street, about 11:45 o'clock last night. Waving both of his weapons, Shields cried, "Put 'em up or die." Greenhill put them up, and Shields took Greenhill's $10, after which Shields ran hastily away. Greenhill also ran, but in another direction, and telephoned the police of Wyoming Street Station that he had been held up by a boy in a flaming red sweater.

On hearing the news, Sgt. Wardie got into a police machine and began cruising around, his eyes peeled for a red sweater. While the Sergeant was thus engaged, Shields walked into the candy store of Thomas Otos and Chris Delos at 2601 South Broadway, held up the proprietors and took $50 from the cash register. Delos and Otos also were told to "put 'em up or die." Shields again left hurriedly. He got to Broadway and President street just as Sgt. Wardie got there. Followed the finish of Shields' career of crime, at least for last night.

Shields, after confessing both holdups, told the police that one bullet in his revolver was discharged because he had attempted to rob two pedestrians, who ran away when he told them to "put 'em up or die," and Shields, not liking their behavior, had fired a shot after them as they ran. He said he took the weapons from the home of a friend he had come to St. Louis to visit a bit who wasn't home.

Shields, armed with a revolver and an empty automatic, met Clifford Greenhill of 2715 South Eighth street, on Victor street near Tenth street, about 11:45 o'clock last night. Waving both of his weapons, Shields cried, "Put 'em up or die." Greenhill put them up, and Shields took Greenhill's $11, after which Shields ran hastily away. Greenhill also ran, but in another direction, and telephoned the police of Wyoming Street Station that he had been held up by a boy in a flaming red sweater.

On hearing the news, Serg. Wardie got into a police machine and began cruising around, his eye peeled for a red sweater. While the Sergeant was thus engaged, Shields walked into the candy store of Thomas Otis and Chris Delos at 2401 South Broadway, held up the proprietors and took $50 from the cash register. "Delos and Otis also were told to 'put 'em up or die.'" Shields again left hurriedly. He got to Broadway and President street just as Serg. Wardie got there. Followed the finish of Shields' career of crime, at least for the last night.

Shields, after confessing both holdups, told the police that one bullet in his revolver was discharged because he had attempted to rob two pedestrians, who ran away when he told them to "put 'em up or die." Shields, not liking their behavior, had fired a shot after them as they ran. He said he took the weapons from the home of a friend he had come to St. Louis to visit a but who wasn't home.

MENTION OF KLAN STIRS MAYOR INTO VIOLENT SPEECH

Will "Brain Next Man, Big or Little," Who Brings Up the Charge, Miller Declares.

THREAT EVOKED BY BENDER'S QUESTION

Executive Had Been Giving Deposition in Proceedings Brought by 5th Ward Committeeman.

Mayor Miller was engaged yesterday afternoon in an easy recital of reasons why he sought to remove A. Samuel Bender, Fifth Ward Republican Committeeman, from the City Box-Committee, when the subject of the Ku Klux Klan transformed him from a complacent witness into an angry individual who threatened to "brain the next man, big or little," who charged him with the Ku Klux Klan.

The Mayor had been sitting on the witness stand, chair tilted and legs swinging idly, giving his deposition before Special Commissioner F. G. Ferris in the Times Building in the suit brought by Bender to restrain the Mayor from removing him from the commission, to which he was appointed by former Mayor Kiel Feb. 9 last.

Mayor Reads Report.

A report, prepared by City Marshal Duffy, had just been read to the Mayor in furtherance of his statement that he considered Bender unfit to serve on any commission under him.

The report dealt with alleged acts of Bender which, the Mayor testified, indicated that he was not the type which was personally derided by the Mayor on any commission for which he was responsible.

Bender then went into the matter of whether personal animus actuated the Mayor in bringing about his dismissal.

"Do you know," Bender asked, "that there is in this country an organization which fosters opposition to Jews, Catholics and negroes?"

Assistant City Counselor Dolan, representing the Mayor, proposed an objection, but the Mayor was out of his chair, striding across the room, and towering over Bender, before it was completed. His face was flushed with anger, his attitude threatening.

"Stand it, No Longer."

"If you mean to charge me with the Ku Klux Klan, I'll brain you, big or little," he shouted. "That goes for everyone. I've suffered enough from that and the time has come when I'll stand it no longer."

He stood for a moment and there was a steady stare between the two. "I mean that," the Mayor snapped, and returned to the witness stand.

Further testimony elicited only the statement from the Mayor that he had no personal feeling against Bender but considered him unfit to serve on the commission.

"Is it because I am a Jew?" Bender asked.

The Mayor answered that that was not a consideration in his action and that he had not known Bender's race or religion until he asked the question.

Bender said the Mayor's attempt to "brain" him up as an authority on the fitness of officials raised the question of whether he, himself, was fit to hold public office. The Mayor answered that 120,000 voters believed he was one of them.

Dolan interposed. Bender did not answer.

Brings Up Bond Deal.

Objection was made that all the testimony being introduced was irrelevant, but Bender said he wanted to go into "the Kentucky bond deal" and other incidents in Mayor Miller's career.

This bond, it will be remembered, was one of the issues of the recent mayoralty campaign. Mayor Miller, attorney in fact for the American Indemnity Exchange in 1919, drew a bond to be placed with the Kentucky Compensation Board for $25,000. He later wrote a subordinate, according to board records, saying the bond was not worth the paper it was written on.

"I might remind you that that matter was satisfactorily settled for all parties," the Mayor said, in reply to Bender.

After the hearing, Bender issued a statement in which he characterized the report read by the Mayor, which had been submitted by City Marshal Duffy, as containing the same amount of information as the Mayor "usually has when he makes such unwarranted attacks." Bender said he could take no legal action against the Mayor for reasons because his statements on the witness stand were privileged, in his opinion.

Bender has been a foe of the Mayor in the City Committee and demanded that he name the committeemen who, the Mayor said, his investigations had proved to him as having taken bribes or promises from the Democrats in the recent mayoralty campaign.

WIND STORMS CAUSE 12 DEATHS IN MIDWEST

Six Persons Are Killed by Tornadoes in Iowa and Nebraska.

By the Associated Press.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., June 3.—The toll of dead from last night's wind, rain and electrical storm in this section was brought to five today when additional reports were received from Carver, about 35 miles from here.

Three persons, two women and a man, were killed at Carver when a tornado struck the town.

The dead at Carver are Miss Christine Nelson, a school teacher, crushed to death; Mrs. Johnson, killed with Miss Nelson, and Mrs. Johnson's son. All were killed when the pavilion caved in on picnickers seeking shelter from the storm. The other two deaths occurred in Minneapolis and Russell.

John Anderson, believed to be Town Marshal at Reisel, was killed at Hopkins, when a small station in which he was waiting for a car was swept away by the wind and he was crushed. John Elnicki, 14 years old, Minneapolis, was killed when the wind dashed him against a post, fracturing his skull. Mrs. John Bonoff, 26, who, with Elnicki and other children and three women, were preparing vegetables for market, was caught beneath falling timbers of a shed and suffered a broken back. Four of the smaller children in the party were carried more than a block by the wind. They were bruised. The others escaped.

By the Associated Press.

DES MOINES, Ia., June 3.—Three persons were killed and a number injured in Iowa by wind storms last night, making a total of 10 deaths since Monday as a result of tornadoes and electrical disturbances.

John Harris, aged 75, and his two daughters, perished in a tornado near Adair, Ia. Buildings were demolished and trees uprooted between Adair and Casey.

By the Associated Press.

OMAHA, Neb., June 3.—Four dead and property damage estimated at $250,000 was the toll of tornadoes and electrical storms in eastern Nebraska and western Iowa Tuesday. Three persons, Mrs. Robert Scheer, Lott Ware, an employee and the Rev. Henry Beneker, of North Bend, Neb., were killed when farm buildings on the Scheer farm near Madison, Neb., were raised by a tornado. Lloyd Hansen, 32, was killed when struck by lightning at Orchard, Neb.

Heavy Damage Done by Rain at St. Joseph.

By the Associated Press.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., June 3.—Damage of many thousands of dollars was done by water today when the heaviest rain in years fell during a two-hour period. Sewers were inadequate and the pressure of the water was so great that flat roofs of several store buildings fell. More than six inches of rain fell.

ALABAMA MISSING 7 DAYS

Auto in Which He Went Fishing Is Found—Murder Theory Advanced.

By the Associated Press.

OPP, Ala., June 3.—Relatives of Lawrence Ward, who has been mysteriously missing since last Wednesday, have increased the reward for information concerning him from $1000 to $2500. The father of the missing man clings to the theory that his son was murdered. Ward leaves a wife and two children.

The automobile in which he was going on a fishing trip was found at a point near the spot where several years ago two white men named Martin and Pensell murdered John Tuggle of Chipley, for which offense both men were later executed at Crestview. The car was evidently deserted by young Ward, as there were no marks of violence or clues as to his whereabouts about it.

'SUNSHINE GIRL' WEDS PARTNER IN DEATH HOAX

Special Dispensation Issued by Court for Marriage to Sailstad Who Burned Another's Body as Own.

By the Associated Press.

OSHKOSH, Wis., June 3.—Edward J. Sailstad and Dorothy Anderson, his "Sunshine Girl," were married here last night, it became known today following the woman's release yesterday from the Industrial Home for Women at Taycheedah.

Permission to marry was granted by the Parole Board according to the marriage license which was granted at Fond du Lac yesterday afternoon.

Sailstad recently was released from the reform school at Green Bay and obtained employment here. Late yesterday afternoon Miss Anderson was paroled, the rules of the institution being sufficiently lax to permit her to be absent as a "trustee" during the time which will be required for her parole to be acted upon by the Governor.

The marriage ceremony was performed by the Rev. H. M. Clifford of St. Peter's Catholic Church of this city, following the issuance of a special dispensation by Judge A. D. Richter of the Fond du Lac County Court.

Sailstad and Miss Anderson will continue under legal sanction the adventure in love which started when Sailstad burned the body of a friend to give the world and his wife the impression that Sailstad had perished in a fire.

He and Dorothy, whom he called his "Sunshine Girl," disappeared after the hoax, and for a short time they lived together in California.

Sailstad's wife collected life insurance after her attorneys established that the body found in the Sailstad cottage at Lake Nebagamon, in August, 1920, was that of her husband. She married again.

Then Sailstad and Dorothy were recognized, brought back and convicted.

GIRL TIES MARBLE MATCH

She Lost Right to Undisputed Title by One Miss.

By the Associated Press.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 3.—A girl knelt on the hot sands of the beach yesterday, aimed at a lone "commie" and missed, and in doing so lost her first real chance to outdistance her boy rivals for the league leadership in the National Marley Tournament. She is Marie Lawley of Harrisburg, Pa., who is tied for first place in the Eastern League with Russell "Rusty" Hamilton, Philadelphia, and Louis Weiss, Pittsburgh.

For a short time Marie led her league, following her brilliant defeat of Francis McFall of Wilmington, Del., in three straight games. By clicking off ten consecutive "commies" in his match with Sam Weinstein of Cincinnati, Johnny Cambes of Youngstown, Ohio, established a record for the National Marley Tournament. Cambes leads all leagues with a perfect average of 1000, having won 12 straight games.

Committeeman Bender's Car Stolen.

A. Samuel Bender, Republican City-Committeeman from the Fifth Ward, who is seeking to enjoin Mayor Miller from removing him as a member of the City Box-Committee to which he was appointed by Mayor Kiel, last night reported the theft of his Overland sedan. He told the police he left the machine at Seventh and Walnut streets shortly before noon and said it was not there when he returned at 7:30 p. m.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., June 3.—The 1924 Pulitzer prize play, two seniors decided that Tammany Hall is the name of a girl's school.

Others referred to De Pachmann, pianist, as a ward leader, a diplomat and an automobile racer. Owen D. Young, co-author of the Dawes plan, was identified as owner of Young's pier here, a participant in the Herrin riots and an author.

Leopold Auer, musician, was connected with the Leopold-Loeb case. One girl replied that Harold ("Red") Grange, University of Illinois football player, was a "farm out West." Another defined a marmalade as a eulogy, and said logging was a Western sport popular among lumbermen.

SHIP SEIZED BY PIRATES RETAKEN AFTER A BATTLE

Six British Seamen Who Overpowered French Crew of Rum Schooner Captured Off Canada.

By the Associated Press.

ST. PIERRE, Miquelon, June 3.—The French rum schooner, Marie Second, which was seized in this port yesterday by six British seamen who put to sea with the cargo of liquor, was recaptured at midnight by the French trawler Asie after a battle and is being towed to St. Pierre. A brief message from the Asie said the schooner suffered "some damage."

The schooner, until recently under British registry and sailing out of Lunenburg, Nova Scotia, had just been transferred to the French flag and was at anchor in the roadstead here when, at noon yesterday, her former captain and a crew of five men boarded her. Two members of the French crew were overpowered and set adrift in a dory and the Marie was got under sail. Capt. Wynacht of Lunenburg was said to have led the attacking party.

French Vessel in Pursuit.

A wireless message to the French steam trawler Asie, then near St. Pierre, started the French vessel in pursuit, and last night the Asie reported that she was close to the schooner and making ready to board it. The trawler placed on board the impression that the fighting that followed, have not been received here, but the Asie, in her message this morning, announced that the British crew had been taken from the Marie and a prize crew from the trawler placed on board. It was said the six British seamen would be charged with piracy. The Asie and her prize are expected to reach St. Pierre about noon.

Two Seriously Injured.

The two French sailors who were overpowered by the British when the Marie was seized are in a serious condition today. Second Officer Lafitte may lose one of his arms, it was said, and the other suffered injuries that may cost him his eyesight.

The Marie is now owned by Hardy of St. Pierre. Capt. Teleche, who assumed command of the schooner after its transfer to French registry, was ashore with the most of his crew when the attack was made.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 3.—Members of the senior class of the Atlantic City High School have peculiar ideas of who's who.

Vice President Charles G. Dawes was identified as "the gloomy dean," in answers to a recent current events examination. Several students decided that Tammany Hall is the name of a girl's school.

SIX MORE ARRESTS FOR PICKETING IN CURLEE CO. STRIKE

Cases of 23 Strikers Taken Into Custody Yesterday, Are Continued in Police Court Until June 30.

By the Associated Press.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., June 3.—The strike of employees of the Curlee Clothing Co., which began Monday afternoon, continued today with additional workers walking out, bringing the total number of strikers to approximately 700 persons, according to officers of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers' Union, who called the walkout.

Six strikers, two of them women, acting as pickets at the Curlee factory at Twenty-first and Locust streets, were arrested by police of Central District before 8 a. m. today, when they attempted to persuade workers entering the factory to join them. They were booked on peace disturbance charges and docketed to appear in Police Court tomorrow.

The cases of 23 strikers, including nine women, arrested at the Twenty-first and Locust street factory yesterday when they set up a boisterous chorus with tin whistles, were continued today until June 30, after being called in Police Court.

Strikers Display Bruises.

At a meeting of the strikers at the Gayety Theater, it was announced that charges of brutality would be preferred against two Police Sergeants and a patrolman of Central District for the alleged slugging of pickets at the Curlee factory this morning. Eugene Bene and Elmer Ehlers, striking cutters, exhibited bruises, which, they said, had been inflicted by policemen. E. L. Oliver, district organizer of the union, announced the alleged assaults would be taken up with the Police Board. Neither Ehlers or Bene was arrested.

Those arrested today described themselves as Corine Franklin, 1430 Monroe street; Elizabeth Blizeng, 327 Bell avenue; Harry Kessel, 1400 Franklin avenue; Jack Blumberg, 4603 St. Ferdinand avenue; and William Fuhrwerk, 4235 Harris avenue. All were released on bond and returned to picket duty at Twenty-first and Locust streets.

Union Ready to Arbitrate.

At the meeting today arrangements were made for a mass meeting of all strikers at the Gayety at 8 p. m. Thursday. Officers of the union declared the strikers would remain out "all summer" if necessary, but stood ready to arbitrate providing the Curlee Co. would recognize the union. Recognition of the union and the right to organize constitute the strikers' chief demands.

Statement by Curlee.

In a statement today S. H. Curlee, president of the Curlee Co., declared the number of strikers claimed by union officials to be exaggerated. Curlee estimated that but half the 700 strikers claimed by the union had left their places.

The statement followed: "The majority of our employees in all our shops are at work today and the cutting departments are being run as near normal as possible. Many of our employees who were intimidated into leaving their positions have returned and in all cases where we are of the opinion the employee was forced to 'strike' jobs are being held open temporarily.

"Very few of those now absent from work are remaining away from their own accord. Reports have reached officials of the firm that most of the cutters who left their positions Monday did so only after they had been threatened. Some of those whom the so-called union has recruited have been going to homes of employees asking that these employees absent themselves from work, and further visits from representatives of the so-called

MURDER CHARGE AGAINST

THREE MEN DISMISSED

Trio Was Accused in Connection

With Fatal Shooting of Rosario

Demello, Collinsville Miner.

A murder charge against three defendants in the case of Rosario

Demello, Collinsville miner, was dismissed by the Circuit Attorney

in Circuit Judge Ittner's court yesterday, for lack of evidence and because of a conflict in the evidence available.

The defendants were Salvatore

Acquaviva, who operates a fruit

stand at Twelfth boulevard and

Olive street; his brother, Natale, a steamship agent, both of 24 Wash-

street, and Jack Lo Nigro, who never was arrested in the case.

Demello had declared before he died of bullet wounds suffered

when he passed in front of 24

North Eighth street, on Feb. 15,

that Salvatore Acquaviva was one of his assailants and that Lo Nigro

was present. He did not mention

Natale Acquaviva. No evidence was obtained to corroborate his statement, but Salvatore Acquaviva produced evidence in his own behalf, consisting of the statement of a United Railways supervisor, who said Acquaviva was at his fruit

stand at the time Demello was shot.

HEARING ON PAVING TYPESSeveral Give Views at Session of Board of Public Service.A public hearing before the Board of Public Service was opened by Mayor Miller today with the statement that it was to give all persons concerned an opportunity to voice their opinions regarding types of paving to be used on city streets and settle the question once for all, as far as the Mayor was concerned.He cited allegations of a "combine" among contractors, and said that the contractors had told him
all they wanted was a secure deal,
which was just what he wanted to give them. The principal complaint, he said, had been that pavements were not carefully laid and rigidly inspected.About 30 persons attended.
James Fuller said that the Missouri Willite company was prepared to give a five-year maintenance guarantee on all Willite pavements. J.
C. Heman of the Trinidad Asphalt Manufacturing Co., the other concern which has been involved in paving controversies, cited Page
boulevard and Newstead and West Florissant avenues as examples of asphalt pavement which had demonstrated durability, and asked that types of paving be not specified but chosen in open bidding. Other contractors dwelt on the merit of particular types of pavement.TO INVESTIGATE CHARGES OF 'FRAME UP' IN PICKFORD PLOTGrand Jury to Take Up Arrest of Trio Named as Would-Be Kidnapers of Actress.By the Associated Press.
LOS ANGELES, Cal., June 3.—
The Los Angeles County grand jury will investigate the arrest of three men charged with plotting to kidnap Mary Pickford, film star, to ascertain whether there is a grand plot for trying them, or whether the whole affair was a "frame-up"
without basis in fact, by police department informers, as charged by attorneys for the trio.Complaints against the men, C.
Z. Stephens, Claude A. Holcomb and Adrien J. Wood, were issued by the District Attorney's office
late yesterday as a means of holding them until a special session of the grand jury can be summoned Friday. Bail was set at $50,000
each.VERDICT OF $1000 FOR WOMAN
BITTEN BY DOG REVERSEDSuit That of Mrs. Lydia Gallagher Against Kroger Grocery and Baking Co.The St. Louis Circuit Court of Appeals yesterday reversed a decision of a jury in Circuit Court awarding Mrs. Lydia Gallagher of 2315 Whittemore place damages of $1000 for injuries sustained when bitten by a bull dog in a Kroger store at 2357 Lafayette avenue.
The defendant in the suit was the Kroger and Baking Co.In the trial of the case in January, 1923, Mrs. Gallagher testified that she was bitten on the arm by a bulldog in the Kroger store. Although the dog was owned by another customer she testified that employees in the store knew of its viciousness. The defendant claimed that its employees knew nothing of the dog's viciousness. Judge Nipper wrote the opinion handed down yesterday.

Blue-jay is the efficient way to rout a corn. It leaves nothing to your guess-work. You do not have to decide how much or how little to put on. Each plaster is a complete standardized treatment, with just the right amount of the magic medication to end the corn. Simply put on the plaster—it does the rest.

She hated to acknowledge the Corn

So goes the old saying. And few indeed, like to confess a corn. It seems such an undainty thing—an admission of physical untidiness. One may conceal the presence of a corn, but not its ill-effect. It shows itself in the face—and the humor. That twinge in the toe means a frown on the forehead—and a thorn in the disposition. But how foolish to carry a secret-sorrow in your shoe! You can end the pain in ten seconds—and the corn in two days—with a pleasant Blue-jay plaster.

WONDERFUL for the SKIN

Incorrect diet, exposure to dust laden air, the drying effect of powder and rouge make the skin coarse and dry.

Lana Oil, a scientific discovery for the skin found exclusively in Lana Oil Complexion Soap, helps restore that natural freshness to neglected complexions.

TILTED BUCKET LEADS TO LIQUOR DISCOVERY

Man in Back Yard of Saloon Was Elevating Rail in Style of Former Days.

Policemen who raided the saloon of James Hennicke, 1214½ Biddle street, yesterday, on a tip that liquor was to be found there, were beginning to believe they would return to the station empty-handed when they decided to look into the back yard. Then they made a discovery.

The raiders, under Lieut. Walton of the Carr Street District, entered the saloon at 4 p. m. and made a thorough search for the liquor which their anonymous information said was being sold there.

They found none, but in the rear yard they came upon a man seated on a bench with a sardonic expression on his countenance and a bucket in his hand. His forefinger and second finger were hooked over the rim of the bucket in a once popular fashion and his thumb was braced solidly against the side of the container to guard against spilling the fluid down his shirt front.

Such a stance could mean but one thing. He was drinking beer, drinking it as they did in the days when one man carried ten buckets on a stick.

The policeman rushed the thirsty stranger but he saw them first. He made a quick movement and the liquid in the bucket was spilled in an amber stream to the ground. Smith was the name, he said. John Smith, a cook in the saloon. What was he drinking? He hadn't drunk anything, he'd thrown it away.

While Smith was being interviewed one of the policemen wandered out the alley gate. Just to the left, outside the gate, was the rear cellar door to a building at 1122 High street.

Liquor Found in Cellar.

The door was open, the policeman walked in. Just inside the door he found 30 pint bottles and 26 quart bottles of home brew. He called the others. The search went on, ending with seven and a half pints of moonshine and a pint of wine were dragged from hiding places in the cellar.

The fact that the cellar was so close to Hennicke's saloon coupled with the fact the place had been vacant for four months and his look bad for Mr. Hennicke and he was arrested. Mr. Smith, of the engaging manner, was not arrested.

Church May Rent Place.

The discovery of the liquor in the cellar was made on the eve of the establishment of a mission in the building. Only a few hours before the raid the Rev. E. J. Stackhouse and a number of members of the committee of the Morning Star Baptist Mission, a negro congregation, had inspected the place with a view to renting it.

The addition of 127 members to the congregation since the arrival of the Rev. Mr. Stackhouse a month ago has made inadequate the present quarters at Fourteenth and Olive streets.

"We noticed the odor of the liquor when we inspected the place," the pastor said today. "We could not locate its source but we are glad it has been removed, especially since we will probably rent the place."

IN RAID ON NEW YORK CLUB
Dry Agents Break Down Heavy Iron Door—Rooms Crowded With Men and Women Drinking.

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, June 2.—Discovery of a social rendezvous reminiscent of the notorious "Carfield Club" of 20 years ago, was reported today by prohibition agents following a raid on the Raven Club on East Thirty-third street.

Obtaining admittance to the building by means of a membership card, the squad rushed an inner door of heavy iron. They said the clubrooms were crowded with men and women who were drinking and that they found a hidden supply of assorted liquors valued at $25,000. Patrons were allowed to depart, but Michael Gallagher, described as the proprietor, George Brown, bartender, and Paul Melrose, head waiter, were arrested.

Another cleanup day in Judge Garvin's "liquor branch" of the Federal Court resulted yesterday in pleas of guilty from 101 of the first 124 defendants called. Only three demanded jury trials and bench warrants were issued for 22 who failed to appear. A total of $20,000 in fines have been paid.

EXAMINATIONS FOR JAIL AND WORKHOUSE WARDENS

First to Be Held July 15, Second, July 16; Test for Assessors July 18.

Efficiency board examinations will be held July 15 for city jail warden, July 16 for workhouse warden, and July 18 for district assessors.

H. M. Morgan, superintendent of the workhouse for eight years, was replaced recently by Elisha O. Freese, and Warden Richard Hatton of the jail was succeeded by Melvin C. Lefman. Under the ordinance these are temporary appointments, and the permanent appointees in each case must be chosen from the three who pass the examination with the highest average.

Two other temporary appointments have been made as the result of increasing the number of district assessors from 14 to 16.

MASCOUTAH BREWERY
CONVICTIONS UPHeld

Sentences and Fines Imposed on Six Men Affirmed by Court of Appeals.

Jail sentences and fines imposed on six men in September, 1924, on charges growing out of the seizure of 600 barrels of beer in the Mas-couth Brewery, at Mascoutah, Ill., were affirmed yesterday in a mandate received by the Federal Court in East St. Louis from the United States Court of Appeals, Seventh District.

The men sentenced and their penalties follow:
Edward J. Nicholson, one year in the Vermilion County jail and a fine of $1000; Bernard Katchel,
year in jail and $1500 fine; Edward Newton, year in jail and $1500 fine; Thomas McGuire, six months in jail and $500 fine; Richard Morgan, year in jail and $2500
fine, and Jack Upton, six months
in jail and $500 fine.

An indictment against Joseph Mc-Fadden, who was owner of the brewery at the time of the seizure,
in February, 1924, was nolle
prossed.

Brewery Equipment Seized.
The raid on the brewery, which
at that time bore the name of the Mascoutah Products Co., grew out of the seizure in Chicago of a carload of beer, which was traced to the Mascoutah plant. Besides 600 barrels of the liquid, the raid disclosed complete brewing equipment, which was confiscated. The seven men were indicted in March, 1924,
and six of them convicted when they were brought to trial at Danville, in September of the same year. At the trial, Nicholson was disclosed as president of the company and also as "the mysterious George Jacobson," to whom the carload of beer was consigned in Chicago.

Closed Two Years by Writ.
Several times the Mascoutah Brewery, which has operated under various names since 1920, has been in trouble with the prohibition enforcement officers. In January, 1921, beer was seized in the place
and indictments were returned,
but officials of the company escaped conviction on the claim that the beer was to have been deiceholized before being offered for sale. An injunction against the plant was obtained, however, and it was closed for two years, the injunction being dissolved in 1923 to permit the sale of the property to McFadden. After the seizure in March, 1924, the equipment was destroyed and the place closed under a permanent "padlock" injunction.

STRIKE ON EVE OF GRADUATION

By the Associated Press.
LITTLE ROCK, Ark., June 3.—
Members of the graduating class who participated in the strike of about two-thirds of the students of Little Rock College yesterday have reason to fear that they would not receive their diplomas tomorrow.
Several seniors were among the pupils who walked from the assembly room yesterday as a demonstration of their anger at the appointment of the Rev. James P.
Moran as president of the institution succeeding the Rev. Albert L.
Fletcher.

The change in the college personnel was made in an order issued by the Rev. John B. Morris, Bishop of the diocese of Little Rock, of the Roman Catholic Church. Under his ruling Father Fletcher becomes vice chancellor of the diocese and relinquishes all active connection with the institution of learning. Some of the students who participated in the walkout asserted that students from northern sections have been unduly favored in college athletics, and that they feared the situation would be further complicated by a change of presidents.

Total	$165.00

Although the Post-Dispatch Free Ice for Babies' Milk Fund was formally opened only last Monday, eight cash contributions already have been received, giving the fund a start of $165. All these donations were made by old friends of the babies, several of them having been contributors for a number of years.

One of the oldest of these friends—in ice fund service instead of age—is Robert Wood (Bobby) McGilway, whose first contribution to the fund was made 16 years ago when he was 3 years old. Each year his donation is included among the first ones received. Bobby, who is locally known in his vocation of singer for theaters and radio broadcasting stations, resides at 6145 Barmter avenue.

The other contributors were the Polar Wave Ice and Fuel Co., whose check for $100 opened the fund; the Ben Akiba Aid Society through its treasurer, Mrs. Mary Adelberg; Sorority Circle, Lenora Cheek, treasurer; St. Louis Dairy Co.; Mrs. Louis Renard, 4463 Westminster place; Miss Ruby P. Eyermann, 1722 South Jefferson avenue, and Dr. M. A. Bliss, Humboldt Building.

Several benefits have been planned for the ice fund. The first large affair of the summer will be the annual ball game between the commission and produce merchants on Third and Fourth streets at Sportsman's Park next Sunday morning at 3 o'clock. The entire proceeds of this game will be given to the fund for the babies.

Another early affair will be the show given by Julius Lesser at his home, 12 Washington terrace, next Friday evening. Young Julius expects to go abroad with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lesser, on June 10, and the date of his ice fund show was set for June 5 so he can do his "bit" for the babies before departing.

A Banquet That Was Almost a Tragedy

"Three years ago at a banquet I was stricken with acute indigestion. Two doctors worked over me for an hour before I came to. I had had severe colic at times before, but never before. I was told that doctors or medicine gave me permanent help until a friend, who was at the banquet, advised me to take a course of May's Wonderful Remedy, which I did with wonderful results. It is a simple harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. Write: Wilson Drug Co., Judge Delph Drug Store, and Druggists Everywhere."

CAUGHT 45 MINUTES AFTER A HOLDUP

Two Men Confess, Police Say, Stealing $30—Warrants to Be Sought.

Warrants will be applied for today against David Burke and William Bayless, both of 2734 Papin
street, who, police report, confessed taking $30 in a holdup of three persons in the confectionery
of John de Hass, 6033 Manchester avenue, at 1 p. m. yesterday. De Hass, his wife and a woman customer were forced into a rear room,
while the cash register was looted.
Detectives arrested Burke and Bayless near Boyle and Duncan avenues 45 minutes later, when a revolver bulging from Burke's pocket attracted their attention.

An automobile and $12 were stolen from Walter Pettrink, 1814A North Twelfth street, by three men who held him up near 3803 Glasgow avenue at 9:30 p. m.
Half an hour later the same robbers held up Elmer Hoffman, 1311 Montgomery street, and a girl companion in Hoffman's automobile in O'Fallon Park, and robbed Hoffman of $9. Patrolman Twillenger, attracted by the girls'

screams, fired on the robbers as they escaped in the stolen automobile, and it was found abandoned
later at Vest avenue and Palm street.

Miss Jeanette Vanarsdale, 2612
Blair avenue, was held up and robbed of $10 by a negro at Eighteenth and O'Fallon streets at 10 p. m. Two masked robbers obtained $20 in a holdup in the grocery of Harry Kreger, 3058 Madison street, at 10:45 p. m. William Roche, driver for a biscuit company, reported being robbed of $20
by an armed man at Kingshighway
and Maffitt avenue at 2 p. m.

Youth Given Another Chance.

After sentencing Robert Martin, 19 years old, of East St. Louis, to a term in the Pontiac Reformatory
for attempt to steal an automobile
from Joseph Beykirch in East St.

Clair County, Judge Crow of Belleville yesterday paroled the boy because of his age to give him another chance to make good. He paroled
Martin to G. W. Thompson of East
St. Louis, a former Sheriff of St.
Clair County.

HIGHER TUITION FEE AT WASHINGTON U.

$25 a Year Increase Voted and Students' Activities' Charges Are Higher.

An increase of $25 per year in all tuition charges at Washington University, beginning with the academic year 1932-33, and the raising of the Student Activities' Fee from $5 to $10 was announced by Chancellor Hadley yesterday following a meeting of the Board of Directors of the University.

In explaining the action Chancellor Hadley said: "Last year the University had a few hundred dollars surplus, but this year its deficit will be in excess of $10,000. This is due to the increasing cost of education and to the necessary expenditure of considerable sums in the rehabilitation of our light and power plant."

"As we can appeal to no public funds for assistance, we investigated as to whether our tuition charges were as high as those of similar universities, and as to the cost of the service that we are giving our students. In the College of Liberal Arts and in all other degree conferring departments the tuition has been $200 annually for a number of years, except in the Medical School, where the charge is $300. These charges are far less than the expense of giving the education offered. For example the cost per year per student in the College of Arts and Sciences is double the tuition; in dentistry, $800; and in medicine, $1500.

"We further found that our charges were considerably less than in other universities and that most universities charge special fees that we do not. In view of these facts we felt justified in asking for this increase from our students and we believe that none of them will begrudge it when they realize that it will be used to meet the existing deficit and to give them better and larger educational facilities and instruction."

Referring to the increase in the Student Activities' Fee, Chancellor Hadley said the additional revenue would be devoted to the employment of a trainer for athletic teams and that two additional events will be added to the athletic program next year. Enrollment for the second summer session at Washington University promises to be larger than last year, according to Dr. F. W.

Shipley, director. The statement is based on the large number of students from other cities which have sent credentials for admittance. The enrollment last summer was 532. Registration will continue until June 12 and out of town students may register until June 14. A majority of the courses will continue until July 25, but certain work in architecture and engineering will extend over a period of eight or 10 weeks.

on each 1000 feet of moving picture film and giving the Tax Commissioner power of censorship, to a certain extent, over each film to be exhibited, was adopted last night by both houses of the General Assembly. The tax is expected, its sponsors say, to increase the cost to exhibitors about 13 cents for each film shown.

Departments: Banking Bond Corporation Real Estate Loan Real Estate Public Relations Safe Deposit Savings Trust

One Hour at the Mercantile

☞ The clock strikes twelve!

☞ At window 55 in the Savings Department an account is opened for Billie Jones, born last week while in the Trust Department the will of John Smith, who died last week, is being read.

☞ Richard Clemens brings in some stock he has bought and asks our Bond Department its true value. Too late. If he had asked us first—but he didn't.

☞ The law firm of Henry & Meyers rents a large box in our Safe Deposit Department for $30 a year, explaining that several safes have been robbed in their office building. They are taking no chances. Mr. Meyers also rents a smaller box for $5 a year, in which to keep some personal property.

☞ The ——— Company makes application to our Credit Department for a loan of $100,000. Their reputation is good, they make a well-known product, and they will get the loan. Tony Sciorita, newsboy, deposits a dollar in his savings account. He doesn't know it, but he's helping us make that loan.

☞ Seated at a desk in the Real Estate Loan Department is Mary Brice, stenographer, buying her first $500 investment. At the next desk is John Kendall, who owns a goodly portion of St. Louis County, investing $20,000. First Mortgage Real Estate Notes have a wide appeal.

☞ The Richard Billingslys send two suitcases of silverware to our Storage Vaults for safe-keeping while they are in Florida. Our charge will be the cheapest item of their trip—about $8.

☞ A man whose wife formerly lived in St. Louis stops in on his way from El Paso to New York, names us trustee of his life insurance trust, and leaves his will naming us executor. He explains that his wife would probably return to St. Louis in the event of his death.

☞ Mrs. Warburton, on the way to her safe deposit box to put away the necklace she wore at the party last night, nods to Nora O'Grady, her second maid, who is making a savings deposit.

☞ Eighteen new savings accounts have been opened since twelve o'clock. Six hundred and fifty deposits have been made on old accounts.

☞ These are but a few of the high spots. More than 2,200 people have entered our doors during the noon hour.

☞ The clock strikes one!

ANOTHER hour begins. New questions are asked. We try to answer them. New problems arise. We help to solve them. This . . . and not just the taking of deposits and paying of checks . . . is "Mercantile Service."

ESSENTIALS OF PEACE DISCUSSED BY THE PRESIDENT

Reduction of Military Establishment to Minimum Predicated on Each Citizen Being Potential Soldier, He Says

ADDRESSES NAVAL ACADEMY GRADUATES

Believes in Adequate Military Preparations but Asserts These Are Not Alone Sufficient.

While appointing the new officers as ambassadors of peace and friendship, the President...

"We do not believe in or wish to bear the expense of maintaining a considerable body of trained experts in that profession, the true spirit of American institutions requires that each citizen should be potentially a soldier, ready to take his place in the ranks in time of war, either in the field or in the training of the military forces."

"It is exactly because we wish to keep our standing forces small that the average citizen must give some attention to military affairs, precisely as he gives some attention to other Government affairs, in order that he may express a deliberate and informed judgment at the ballot box."

U. S. Policy on Peace. The President reiterated that America's aim was "a policy of peace through reason rather than through force," and declared that in his dealings with the people of this country and other nations, the navy must remember that the "dominant traits of mankind are truth and justice and righteousness, and that the appeal to reason must ultimately prevail."

"Through ultimately I believe peace will prevail," he continued, "I have too much knowledge of the history of mankind and too much experience with the traits of human nature to dare to assert that we shall never again be engaged in war. It is known of all the world that we have no present or traditional enemies, that we have no territory, harbor no imperialistic designs, and are not warring ourselves with the expectation of attacking or being attacked."

And so far as we can gauge the future, so far as we can gauge the power and temper of other peoples, there never was a time when it was less likely that any other nation or combination of nations would or could make any attack on us."

"As one who is responsible not only for our national defense, but for our friendly relations with other peoples and our title to the good opinion of the world, I feel that the occasion will very seldom arise, and I know it does not now exist, when those connected with our navy are justified, either directly or by inference, in asserting that other specified powers are warring against us, and by arousing national suspicion and hatred attempting to cause us to arm against them."

Desire for Right General. "The suggestion that any other people are harboring a hostile intent toward us is a very serious charge to make. We would not wish having our honorable motives and peaceful intentions questioned; others cannot relish having any of the question raised. We should not forget that in the world over the general attitude and one of the strongest attributes of all peoples is a desire to do right."

As an instrument of peace, Mr. Coolidge gave assurance that the navy would draw adequate support from the Federal treasury and he gave support also to voluntary organizations which attempted to advance the welfare of the navy by keeping the public informed of its aims and purposes. "A strong military establishment alone, he said, would not prevent anyone from attempting to molest."

Know of no nation in history that has ever been able to attain peace, he said. "I see no reason to expect that we could be an exception. Although I believe

Production of Military to Minimum Predicated on Each Citizen Being Potential Soldier, He Says

ADDRESSES NAVAL ACADEMY GRADUATES

Believes in Adequate Military Preparations but Asserts These Are Not Alone Sufficient.

By the Associated Press.
ANNA POLIS, Md., June 3.—Response of the nation's standing military forces to a minimum is predicated upon attention to military affairs by the average citizen, President Coolidge today told the graduating class of the Naval Academy.

While appointing the new officers as ambassadors of peace and friendship, the President reminded them that the first essential
of defense and security is an adequate defense, which "should be adequately extended and borne by all our people."

"We do not believe in or wish to bear the expense of maintaining a standing military force," he said. "The very genius of a republic would be threatened by that idea. But while military science has advanced to such a degree that it is necessary constantly to maintain a considerable body of trained experts in that profession, the true
right of American institutions requires that each citizen should be essentially a soldier, ready to take his place in the ranks in time of war, either in the field or in the necessary productive activity."

U. S. Policy on Peace.

The President reiterated that America's aim was "a policy of peace through reason rather than force," and declared that in its alliance with the peoples of this and other nations, the navy must remember that the "dominant interests of mankind are truth and justice and righteousness, and that appeal to reason must ultimately prevail."

"Though ultimately I believe peace will prevail," he continued,
"I have too much knowledge of the history of mankind and too much experience with the traits of man-nature to dare to assert that we shall never again be engaged in war. It is known of all the world that we have no present traditional enemies, that we have no territory, harbor no imperialistic designs, and are not engaging ourselves with the expectation of attacking or being attacked,
and so far as we can look into the future, so far as we can gauge the temper and temper of other peoples, there never was a time when there was less likelihood of any combination of nations
which could make any attack
on us."

"As one who is responsible not only for our national defense, but for our friendly relations with other peoples and our title to the good opinion of the world, I feel that the occasion will very seldom arise, and I know it does not now exist, when those connected with the navy are justified, either directly or by inference, in asserting that other specified powers are engaged against us, and by arousing national suspicion and hatred tempting to cause us to arm
against them."

Desires for Right General.

The suggestion that any other people are harboring a hostile intention toward us is a very serious matter to make. We would not relax our honorable motives
and peaceful intentions questioned;
we cannot rely having any of question their. We should remember that in the world over the general attitude and one of the most attributes of all peoples
is a desire to do right."

As an instrument of peace, Mr.
Coolidge gave assurance that the navy would draw adequate support from the Federal treasury and he expressed also to voluntary organizations which attempted to advance the public interest of the navy and its purposes. A strong military establishment alone, he said, would not prevent anyone from attempting to molest the

of no nation in history
ever been able to attain peace," he said. "I see no reason to expect that we could be different. Although I believe

RÔME RESTORING SOUND POLICIES

Transaction a Move to Establish Currency on Basis of Accepted Unit in World Trade.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, June 3.—The move made by the Italian Government to stabilize its currency by establishing a $50,000,000 credit in New York is regarded by administration officials as a hopeful sign of the Mussolini Government's progress toward a point where it soon can begin consideration of its external debts.

Inasmuch as Ambassador de Martino already has informed the Treasury of his Government's intention to take up the question of funding the American debt, officials here viewed the announcement in Rome yesterday as having special significance to the United States.

While the credit was established for the announced purpose of use in currency stabilization, the information that it probably would be unnecessary to draw on it except in case of an unforeseen emergency, was accepted as meaning that greater progress had been made by the Italian Government in restoring sound financial policies than had been evident.

Officials were careful not to express too much from the Italian Government's program to get on a solid footing, but they were confident that it would be carried out,
and it was suggested that Amba-
sador de Martino probably would not have taken up the debt funding question at this time had he not been apprised of the trend of events at home.

$50,000,000 U. S. Credit to Stabilize the Italian Exchange.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, June 3.—Establishment by J. P. Morgan & Co. of a $50,000,000 revolving credit for the stabilization of Italian exchange, is viewed in the financial district as a step of great importance, certain to strengthen Italy's position in refunding her war debts and likely to pay the way for an eventual revaluation of the lire on a new gold basis.

Thomas W. Lamont issued a statement on behalf of the Morgan firm, saying that the credit has been granted to a banking group, headed by the Bank of Italy and consisting of three Italian banks of issue—The Bank of Italy, The Bank of Naples and The Bank of Sicily. The credit, which has the guaranty of the Italian Government, is to be utilized if occasion arises for exchange stabilization purposes.

When It's Rough Going Up Beyond the Arctic Circle

This photograph shows what it means to traverse pressure ridges up in the Polar region where Amundsen now may be struggling back to an outpost of civilization. Peary, on his trip to the Pole, had dogs to drag his sledges but Amundsen and his companions, if they have been forced to abandon their planes, will have to do the hauling themselves. Amundsen took with him two sledges and provisions for about six weeks.

Amundsen Party, Deprived of Planes, Would Face Appalling
Task in Return Over Polar Sea

Explorers, Heavily Burdened, Might Be Forced to Race Starvation Across Great Tumbled Blocks and Dangerous Thin Ice.

Unless disaster has overtaken the Amundsen party, which flew off for the North Pole 13 days ago in two seaplanes, and from which no word
has been received, the explorers
may now reasonably be supposed to be somewhere in the vicinity of the Pole, or on their way back. The party would have to pull them. It would be a heart-breaking task,
over the rough ice.

The nearest land for which the explorers could make is Cape Columbia, 413 nautical miles, or about 475 land miles, from the Pole.
When it is realized that the life of the party would depend upon whether its supply of food held out, it will be seen that it is more important to measure the distance
in time than in miles.

For the upward journey, Peary's party required 35 days from Cape Columbia to the Pole. Considerable time was consumed in establishing igloos and breaking a trail
all for the purpose of facilitating the return trip, on which the party had nothing to do but travel and rest, with the result that the return was accomplished in the remarkable time of 17 days. That was an average of about 43 land
miles a day, an astonishing speed
when it is considered that much of the trail lay over rough ice, and that the explorers wore the weighty fur garments and heavy boots necessary to protect them from the elements.

Food in Concentrated Form.
Amundsen's men might decide,
in the event of a forced journey on foot, either to draw the sledges, or to pack their belongings on their backs. The burden would consist almost entirely of clothing and concentrated food. By comparison with the Peary expedition, this burden would be much smaller, because Peary had to carry food for dogs
as well as men.

All food, of course, is in concentrated form. Pemican has been the standard ration for polar expeditions from time immemorial. It consists of venison cut into thin strips, dried in the sun, pounded to powder and mixed with dried fruit and melted fat. It is compressed into cans. Amundsen's party carried food enough to feed
the six members approximately six weeks. Peary's return, with dogs and sledges prepared, required one day less than three weeks.

The upward journey, over a virgin trail approximating that which Amundsen's party might expect to encounter, required five weeks and a day. Which shows what a race with starvation would ensue if the party had to return on foot.

Party Equipped With Skis.
Open leads comprise one of the chief dangers.
When these were small, Peary overcame them by the ingenious device of ferrying the party across on small ice floes. When they were larger, it was necessary to go around them, or that they were impossible, simply to wait for them to close or freeze over. In the later case the young ice often offers dangerous footing. Peary and his men were able to support their weight

EXPLAINS PLAN TO ALTER COURT SYSTEM

Judge Mix Says Abolishment
of Assignment Court Would Expedite Trials.

Circuit Judge Mix asserted yesterday that the proposal he made to the Circuit Judges in general session to abolish the assignment court and return to the practice of permitting the Circuit Clerk to make assignments of civil suits to the various court rooms for trial
was in the interest of expediting
trial of law suits.

He claimed that his proposal, if adopted, would not completely wipe out the present system, although it would make division No.
1, now known as the assignment court, a jury division. It would also make the two equity courts
jury divisions, thereby opening 11
courts for the trial of jury cases instead of eight at present. Incidental each judge would have control of his own docket, and would try both jury and nonjury or equity cases. Divorce cases and all other litigation intended for the Court of Domestic Relations would continue to be heard in that division.

Judges and attorneys interested in keeping the assignment court contented that Judge Mix's plan, in effect, would be a return to the former system. They say that after years of trial the present system
has proved superior to the old method governing the rules of practice. A comparison of the records, one Judge declared, reveals that the Judges are doing more work and disposing of many more cases by the present system than they did when there was no assignment court.

The chief objection to the assignment court as now constituted is due to a congested condition of
No. 1, owing to inadequate quarters. While waiting for their cases to be assigned lawyers and litigants are "packed in like sardines." But this condition, it was pointed out,
is not unendurable and will be relieved when the new courthouse is built and ample quarters for the assignment division provided there.

A committee, consisting of Judges Miller, Hall and Hamilton,
with Judge Miller as chairman,
has been appointed by the Judges
to investigate Judge Mix's motion.
The committee was instructed to make its report in October.

imperative to have the assistance of Eskimos, because of their instinctive and hereditary knowledge of the ice and its ways. Amunsen's party has no Eskimos. Peary said it was essential to have at least one stove, and an ample supply of fuel oil or alcohol. Amunsen's men, with dogs, obviously could not carry much fuel if they had to return on foot.

Peary also believed it was necessary to have a broken trail, with igloos at uniform spaces. No such advantage would await the Amun-
sen party. On the other hand, it is admitted that Amundsen is the most resourceful polar explorer in the world. His peculiar genius and his extraordinary sagacity, as demonstrated in other expeditions, including that in which he reached the South Pole, may be more than equal to the material handicaps which face his party. It is certain that Amundsen will get them back if anybody could.

SECURITY PACT WORTHLESS, IS GERMAN VIEW

Proposed Franco-British Agreement Characterized as "Unbelievable" by Berlin Officials.

MILITARY DEMANDS
MAY BE SATISFIED

As Evacuation of Cologne Hinges on Terms of Disarmament Note, They Probably Will Be Met.

By SAMUEL SEEWACK.
Berlin Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and the New York World.
Copyright 1925, by the Press and Publishing Co., (New York World and Post-Dispatch.)

BERLIN, June 3.—"Unbelievable," the German Government last night characterized the Franco-British agreement for a security pact protecting Western borders
which would still permit France
to march across German territory
in any war involving her allies, Poland or Czechoslovakia. The German view, as expressed in a diplomatic message to the Wolf Bureau, is that the security pact is not worth writing if German territory is not to be safeguarded in any emergency. So opinion was expressed in London and Paris turned coal black as soon as the news crossed the Rhine.

This week will provide much material for gloomy reflection within the Reich. A demand to disarm was brought here yesterday by German embassies by special courier
and it will be delivered to Chancellor Luther and Foreign Minister Stresemann tomorrow, when they return from a holiday.

Opposed by Industrialists.
Although the note is not to be made public until that time, the basis of its provisions is known—dissolution of the general staff, disarmament of the former ammunition factories in the Ruhr
and demilitarization of the police.
Many cannot enter into negotiations
or rather debates on the note.

Reichswahr Minister Gessler declined the German general staff exists and insists the secret servants were abolished two years ago.

Industrialists, notably the Krupps, will vehemently protest that their factories can be employed as peacetime factories.
They demand that the government will point out that keeping police in garrisons is necessary to preserve order.

So, long before Germany is called upon to deliver into the nebula material of the security pact, she will have sufficient concrete material for hair-splitting with the Allies.

May Satisfy Demands.
Since evacuation of Cologne depends upon fulfillment of the military demands, it is freely predicted that, after due protest, Germany
will seek to satisfy them.

But the security pact is another story. The agreement reached in London is a security pact that does not secure.

Germany postulated as a condition of her entrance into the League of Nations a provision that her territory be held neutral. This could cut France off from her allies and leave Poland helpless in the event of war with Russia. Conflicting the security pact to Western European frontiers does not solve the problem.

Germany expects for a concession of western frontiers, a revision of eastern frontiers. By leaving the eastern borders out of the discussion, she is giving something for nothing. If, in addition, France demands the right to march across the proposed demilitarized Rhineland, the pact becomes totally worthless to Germany.

Poland remains the big obstacle to peace. Poland is not giving up any of its territory and Germany
will not be content until the Polish corridor splitting Prussia in two is wiped out.

of Commons last night defeated the sistently protective basis. The vote stood: For, 37; against, 147.

FREEHOLDERS IN COUNTY INCLINED TO ESSEN'S VIEWS

Their Statements Indicate They Will Oppose Annexation Unless It Is to Their Advantage.

QUESTION OF MERITS
TO COME UP FIRST

City Members May Have to Dispose of That Issue Before Drafting Plan—
Board to Act as Unit.

St. Louis County members of the Board of Freeholders, which is to draft a plan of whole or partial merger of the city and county,
made it apparent in statements to the Post-Dispatch today, following their appointment yesterday, that they are antagonistic to any change of the present boundary line unless they can be shown that the change will be of considerable advantage to the county.

The county group in the board
is strongly inclined to the view of one of the members, Fred Essen, Republican "boss" of the county, whose appointment came as a surprise, and was denounced by President Judge Smiley of the County Court, one of the appointing authorities, as outrageous.

The Board of Freeholders is not charged with the task of determining whether there shall be city expansion, but with the duty of drafting a definite plan for expansion,
under one of three general schemes, leaving it to the people of city and county to decide whether the plan shall be adopted.
If the county group of members should choose to stand together
solidly they might prevent the board from reaching an agreement
within a year, the required time,
or they might insert in the plan
some provisions that would be certain to cause rejection by the voters.

Board to Act as Unit.

County members pointed out that the arguments in favor of a merger seemed to rest largely on the advantage to the city of acquiring a larger population. However, proponents of expansion have pointed out other benefits to the city, and there are numerous residents of the county who desire greatly to obtain the benefits of municipal government and get away
from drawbacks of the present form of county government.

It appears that the city group
of members, who express themselves either as having open minds or favoring expansion, may have to settle the question of merits of expansion with the county group
before the board can get down to drafting a plan. The board will act as a unit, and not in division.

Under the constitutional amendment adopted by the voters of Missouri last November, the first meeting of the board will be at St. Louis on June 15, when presumably it will organize.

Attitude of County Members.
The Post-Dispatch today asked county and city members of the board for their views on expansion. Statements of county members follow:

Fred Essen of Clayton, county
"boss" and former Congressman—
"I think I got the best men appointed to the board that I could.
We are going to have a division
within the next three or four days
and will be able to evolve some plan of procedure then and know better what our policy will be. I mean just us out in the county.
The city is going to have to show us something. I won't be in favor of annexation simply because the city wants a million population.
However, my policy as a member of the board will not necessarily be the one that has been expounded by my newspaper, the Watchman-Advocate (which has opposed expansion)."

A. E. L. Gardner of Kirkwood,
an attorney and former State Senator, who has been a political foe of Essen but who is understood to have reached reconciliation with the "boss": "The city is the originator of this plan and it's up to them to show us a plan which will be satisfactory. Personally, I will not be in favor of annexation unless I see every advantage of the county. It will have to be absolutely satisfactory to the people of the county
in every way before I'll vote for it."

Robert Roscoe, City Attorney of Webster Groves, an Independent Republican: "As far as I know, the city has advanced no reason for annexation except the sentimentalism of one more population. They will have to show me the absolute concrete advantages to the county before I'll be in favor of it. It will have to be fair and equitable in every phase. At present I see no reason for annexation."

Joseph C. McEate of Clayton, an Independent Republican.

National Safety Body Also Urges Enforcement of Law Against Pedestrians.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, June 3.—Fixing of more severe minimum penalties for serious traffic law violations and granting of wider power to Judges and Licensing authorities in the suspension and revocation of drivers' permits was advocated in resolutions adopted at a meeting here yesterday of the Committee on Enforcement of the National Conference on Street and Highway Safety.
The committee, which was authorized by the national conference held here last year at the call of Secretary Hoover, met yesterday to study ways and means for netting enforcement of traffic laws and to draw up a report of its conclusions
for the 1925 meeting of the conference later in the year.
In other resolutions the committee advocated more general establishment of traffic courts in cities,

and declared regulations for use of streets by pedestrians should be as rigidly enforced as those applying to motorists. It also favored control of highway traffic by states
rather than by municipalities, in the interest of greater uniformity of law and enforcement.

Judge William McAdoo, chief
city Magistrate of New York, chairman of the committee, urged mandatory jail sentences for driving while drunk, reckless driving, and leaving the scene of an accident
without identification.

He was supported by W. L. Dill, Commissioner of Motor Vehicles of New Jersey, in the opinion that the vesting of police or traffic Judges with the power of suspension or revocation of licenses was the best means of ridding the streets and highways of reckless drivers.

Our Depositors' Protection

SAFETY of depositors' funds is the first consideration in any well-regulated banking institution.

¶ The uniformed guards seen in the lobby of the Mississippi Valley Trust Company, the steel vaults, the iron cages, the electric alarms—these are but a few protective measures visible to the eye of an outsider.

¶ But there are many safeguards unknown to the average depositor:

Our Board of Directors is composed of experienced business executives representing the principal industries of the city. All applications for loans are given their mature consideration.

Our Capital and Surplus of over seven million dollars is a guarantee to depositors. Every dollar of this fund must be exhausted before a customer could lose a cent.

The State of Missouri imposes regulations upon Trust Companies, and periodically examines their financial condition.

As a Member of the Federal Reserve System, the Mississippi Valley is subject to supervision by the Federal Reserve Board.

The St. Louis Clearing House Association, of which this institution is a member, conducts rigorous examinations and requires absolute soundness as a condition of membership in the Association.

Annual Audits, made by a committee of stockholders aided by a firm of certified public accountants, involve the searching of every record and the examination of every loan.

¶ Bank depositors are entitled to absolute safety, and the Mississippi Valley Trust Company has employed every means known to modern banking to insure it to them.

HIRAM JOHNSON PLANS SENATE ROW WITH PRESIDENT

Californian Invoking Old Rule of "Senatorial Courtesy," to Fight McCamant's Confirmation.

RENEWS QUARREL WITH COOLIDGE

Appointment of Oregon Man to Judgeship Regarded as Challenge by White House to Senator.

Post-Dispatch Bureau, 20-23 Wyatt Building.

WASHINGTON, June 3.—Reports from California that Senator Hiram Johnson will fight the confirmation of Wallace McCamant of Portland, Ore., as Judge of the Circuit Court of Appeals, Ninth District, is regarded here as the opening move in a new fight between President Coolidge and the Senate over the right of the President to make appointments without assent of the Senate.

Johnson will invoke the old unwritten rule of "senatorial courtesy," objecting to the McCamant appointment on the ground he is "personally objectionable." The custom of permitting Senators to block appointment of men in their own states objectionable to them has been of long standing. In the case of McCamant, while he is from Oregon, he will sit at San Francisco, which will enable Senator Johnson to invoke the rule.

Personal Quarrel Involved. In addition to creating additional hostile sentiment between the President and the Senate, the situation involves the personal quarrel between the President and Johnson, which has reached the feud state, due to the fact that Johnson referred to the President without softness of speech when Johnson was a candidate for the presidency.

An open fight is on in California between the conservatives and the Johnson radicals to control the State and the appointment of McCamant was an open challenge to Johnson.

Secretary of Commerce Hoover, regarded as the man closest to the President in the Cabinet, is the California representative of the conservatives, who purpose to ride rough shod over Johnson in California as they are trying to do with La Follette in Wisconsin.

Nominated Coolidge Vice President. The appointment involves a personal clash between the President and the California Senator. It was McCamant who brought about the nomination of Calvin Coolidge as Vice President at the Chicago convention which nominated Harding for President. He placed the President under deep obligations by that act. It was McCamant also who came to that convention instructed to vote for Hiram Johnson for President, but who violated his instructions by voting for Warren G. Harding. Johnson has never forgiven any of the men who deserted him.

But the right of a single Senator to block appointments which deal with his own state is one which has been of long standing. Each individual Senator is interested in seeing it maintained. Even Roosevelt, during the most popular period of his administration, was unable to overcome it, and the late Senator Knute Nelson of Minnesota successfully defeated the confirmation of Milton D. Purdy as Federal Judge at Minneapolis.

Only the President's sense of personal obligation to Wallace McCamant probably induced him to rush head-on into another struggle with the Senate over appointments, following the defeat of the effort to secure confirmation of Charles Beecher Warren as Attorney-General.

Income Investment Homes in Davis Place

A VISITOR returning from Los Angeles says the popular demand is for a two-family (duplex) homes. Already in the Eastern cities the modern duplex, built to resemble a single residence, is in greatest demand among buyers.

No wonder that Davis Place, in St. Louis, with eleven of these income investment homes already under construction is the talk of the town. Think of the advantages! The ground—$70 a foot, or only $35 a foot for each family. The construction—one architect has found that he saved $10,000 by building one large home for two families, instead of two single residences. The upkeep—only one yard to care for, one building to maintain.

Yet it has all the exclusiveness of the individual home. A fire-wall between the two units, separate entrances, driveways, heating plants, garages and porches.

You, too, should buy in Davis Place. The price is $70 now. It will go to $120 or more. Real estate history proves it. The profits are there—FOR YOU.

For your reserve fund (no matter what other investments you make) we have for sale and recommend FIRST MORTGAGE 4% REAL ESTATE GOLD BONDS. Sold in denominations of $50 to $1000.

EX-CONVICT, THREE OTHERS TAKEN IN RAID

Burglar Tools Found in Trunk in House Occupied by Thomas Rowe.

A police raid at 10:30 a. m. today on a house at 1730 North Grand boulevard resulted in the arrest of four persons, one of them Thomas Rowe, notorious gangster and ex-convict, and the seizure of weapons and burglar's tools.

The police entered through an open window and found Rowe and a companion, Benjamin Overstreet, asleep in one room, and Annie Reed, alias Rowe, 32 years old, and Margaret O'Brien, 27 years old, asleep in an adjoining room. A revolver and an automatic pistol were found in a sewing basket in the women's room.

The four prisoners and a steamer trunk found in the women's room were taken to headquarters. When Rowe and the others disclaimed ownership of the trunk and refused to unlock it, police smashed it open. Under a pile of women's apparel and furs, a sledge hammer and a jimmy were found.

One of "Heavenly Twins," Rowe and Overstreet, who gave their ages as 35 and 27, respectively, were held as "suspected of safe robbery," and the women were held for investigation. Rowe is one of the notorious "Heavenly Twins," the other being Dave Rowe.

Rowe did not return to his St. Louis haunts after his release from the State Penitentiary in 1920, and police assumed he was gone forever. Last week, however, Lieut. Dineen glimpsed Rowe and a stranger, who later proved to be Overstreet, in the 1700 block of North Grand. Overstreet escaped, but Rowe, halting at Dineen's command, told a story of "going straight" on the West coast and of returning to St. Louis to look for painting jobs. In order to watch him further, Dineen let Rowe go, and observed him enter the house at 1730 North Grand.

This week, as reports of safe robberies came in, Chief Kaiser and Lieut. Dineen decided to arrest Rowe. The raid today was made by Dineen and seven detectives.

The "Heavenly Twins" were members of a gang that hung out at Fourteenth and Chestnut years ago, some being active in the Egan gang. In 1913 Thomas Rowe was sentenced to a year in the workhouse for robbery. In 1916 the "Twins" and a third man were identified by Howard Graham as the ones who robbed a saloon at Twentieth and Olive streets. The same day warrants were issued against them. Graham was shot, and he identified the brothers as his assailants. Thomas Rowe was sentenced to five years for this assault, but the sentence was reversed. In May, 1918, in order to forestall prosecution on a safe robbery charge, he pleaded guilty to the assault charge and was given three years. In February, 1920, his sentence was commuted and he left the penitentiary.

Overstreet is a stranger here, and Rowe describes him as a longshoreman. The two women are known as "gang women," and Annie Reed says she is Rowe's wife. In 1915 she and another woman quarreled with others in a saloon at Nineteenth street and Cass avenue, and later were found with their throats cut at Sixteenth and Olive streets. A few days later, Bebe Babbitt, half-owner of the saloon, was shot and killed.

Some years ago Chief Detectives Kaiser and his assistant, John McCarthy, raided a house at Seventh and Morgan streets and arrested Thomas Rowe and Annie Reed. They found then, as today, a trunk in which burglar's tools were concealed under apparel.

FRENCH REPULSE RIFIAN ATTACK; MANY WOUNDED

Tribesmen Equipped With Modern Means of Warfare, It Is Reported.

EL ARAISH, Spanish Morocco, June 2.—Gen. Colombar's column has repulsed an attack by the Rifians in the Bent Zeroul section, according to dispatches from the French zone. The tribesmen are said to have been equipped with all the modern means of warfare, directed by Europeans and with some of the men dressed in French uniforms. The French casualties are described as numerous.

NOW HALE AND HEARTY AFTER SHE HAD SUFFERED FOR TEN YEARS

Herb Juice Has Relieved This Well-Known Saint Louis Woman Like Thousands of Others.

MRS. L. HELLE

"After ten years of suffering and experimenting with hundreds of different remedies, I have decided that Herb Juice is the greatest medicine I have ever taken," said Mrs. L. Helle, who resides at 3011 Lee avenue, St. Louis, in a recent conversation with the Herb Juice man.

"Most of my life," Mrs. Helle continued, "I have been constipated more or less, but as I grew older this condition seemed to grow worse, and for the past ten years I have suffered intensely with kidney trouble and rheumatism. I could not sleep at night owing to the fact that my limbs and back pained so severely. This condition naturally made me very nervous and I was just about to give up hope of ever regaining my good health again when a friend of mine insisted that I try the much-praised remedy, Herb Juice, which I did. And I am happy to say that after taking only three bottles I am a new woman. My constipation has been eliminated, and I never know what it is to have rheumatic pains, or any trouble with my kidneys. My sleep is unbroken, and my appetite is decidedly good. I am now past 68 years of age and I am conscientiously telling you that I feel as well as I did at 35. I consider it a pleasure to recommend Herb Juice as the greatest laxative and tonic I have ever used. I like it so well that I intend to keep a bottle in my house at all times."

CLUBWOMEN 'BELIEVE IN PREPAREDNESS'

Federation Declares for Just and Honorable Peace for Each Nation.

By the Associated Press.
WEST BADEN, Ind., June 3.—The world may be saved from another war if efforts toward peace are entered into with open minds, the General Federation of Women's Clubs, in biennial council here declared in a resolution yesterday.

The federation declared for a just and honorable peace with security for each nation to develop its own civilization.

"We believe in preparedness that will preserve our national security and dignity. We do not agree with those pacifists who would destroy the fundamental necessities of defense nor of those militarists who believe we can secure peace by overbearing armament. We will do everything in our power to bring about world peace. Our honest conviction is that the world may be saved from another war if we go about it at once with an open mind, rationally and understandingly."

"We will work with our whole heart and soul for world peace, a just and honorable peace with security for each nation to develop its civilization."

Mrs. John D. Sherman, president of the Federation, declared that unless there is a vigorous effort to eliminate "bad pictures" they will continue to exist. Mrs. Sherman touched upon the moving picture industry in explaining the federation's withdrawal from the public relations committee organized by Will H. Hays. The federation withdrew from the committee, Mrs. Sherman said, "because it was getting no where."

Marital problems, which are yearly bringing about increased divorces are the "temporary confusion of an adjusting process" due to the changing status of women. Mrs. Maggie W. Barry of College Station, Tex., chairman of the department of the American home, told the federation.

"Divorce is but a symptom of the social disorder. It can only be eliminated by adjustments in the social body," Mrs. Barry declared.

Two resolutions, one approving the recognized American flag ceremonies, and one endorsing the National Music League's project to aid young artists, were adopted by the council.

Stomach Disordered?

Take Haley's Magnesia-Oil—milk of magnesia and mineral oil combined
There is a cause for disordered stomach. And that cause will most often be found in the lower bowel, the seat of most so-called "stomach trouble." Acids from fermenting, accumulating waste matter must be neutralized and waste matter eliminated. Two things are necessary—both are done at one time with Haley's Magnesia-Oil (milk of magnesia combined with mineral oil). Both oil and magnesia work together as they should. The oil carries the magnesia straight to the lower bowel where it is needed. Acids are neutralized, clogged tracts are lubricated. Action is prompt but devoid of griping or distress.

Get a bottle of Haley's Magnesia Oil today. There is no oily taste. If your druggist can't supply you write us. We'll mail postpaid on receipt of price. Large family size, $1. The Haley M-O Company, Indianapolis, Ind.

When
THOMAS A. EDISON
was known as "Little Al"

He accidentally splashed mud on a beautiful Paisley shawl—attempts to clean it failed—65 years later Lux restored this treasured heirloom to loveliness

"MY Mother was out walking one day with her Mother who wore a beautiful Paisley Shawl about her shoulders."

"As they were passing a warehouse, a little boy jumped from a wagon to the sidewalk, immediately in front of them. The plank was loose and a big splash of muddy water literally covered the beautiful Paisley."

"Grandmother attempted to clean it, but such 'soaps' as she had were ineffectual."

"The little boy who soiled the shawl was then known as little Al Edison, now known as Thomas A. Edison. As near as Mother could remember, this incident occurred in 1855. In 1920 the Paisley was given a thorough Lux washing and restored to its original beauty—after 65 years!"

Mrs. Jean Pratt, Chicago, Ill.

BRITISH ASK FOR PROTECTION OF MOHAMMEDAN PILGRIMS

LONDON, June 3.—It was taken in official quarters today that the British Government has taken the necessary step toward King Ali of the Hedjaz and Ibn Saud, Sultan of Nejd and leader of the Wahabi tribesmen, of their respective responsibility for the safety of pilgrims enroute to Mecca, the Mohammedan holy city.

In January, Ibn Saud led his Wahabi tribesmen against King Ali and captured Jeddah, the port of Mecca. This made Ibn Saud virtually master of a considerable part of Arabia including Mecca.

Because of disturbed conditions the Egyptian Government issued on May 25 a declaration that it could not advise intending pilgrims to attempt to reach Mecca and that persons seeking to do so would proceed at their own risk.

Maxwell Droke Urges Precision in Writing of Sales Copy.

"Copy writers are too prone to say a word sounds all right and never stop to think that a word may have more than one accepted meaning," Maxwell Droke of Indianapolis, a member of the editorial staff of Printer's Ink, said in an address on "Putting Words to Work" before the Advertising Club yesterday.

"I am an advocate of precision in the selection of words," he continued. "Goods are marketed through a sound sales idea. There is better and more colorful copy to be used now than ever before."

A Message of Importance for June Graduates

Hundreds of thousands of students in schools and colleges will hear considerable advice during June commencements as to making a success of their lives.

One of the most important messages that can be brought to them in this connection is the vital importance of thrift; as regardless of their mental attainments, financial independence can only be secured by the vast majority of boys and girls through systematic saving.

GIRL ACQUITTED OF MURDERING LETTER CARRIER

Miss Jewel Mahanes of Montgomery, Mo., Freed by Jury at Fulton After Former Disagreement.

STATEMENT OF DYING MAN IN EVIDENCE

Harry Heath Said He Knew of No Reason for Her to Shoot Him; Admitted Pinching Her Arm.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
FULTON, Mo., June 3.—Miss Jewel Mahanes, 17 years old, was acquitted here late yesterday of the murder of Harry Heath, a letter-carrier whom she shot at her home in Montgomery City, Mo.

A statement by Heath, in which he told Joe Mosley, a fellow member of the Masonic order, that he knew of no reason why the girl should shoot him and that her attack on him came entirely by surprise, was admitted as evidence.

Heath related the details just before he was being taken to a hospital at Mexico, Mo., for treatment and while he was under the belief that he would die. Mosley testified, and was made for the purpose of acquainting the members of the Masonic order with the real facts, according to Heath's dying statement.

Had Reprimanded Girl.
The injured man said that he had reprimanded the Mahanes girl for opening a registered letter that he had delivered at the Mahanes home and which was addressed to the girl's mother. He asserted that she flew into a rage and declared that she would not permit him to meddle with her affairs.

Heath, in his statement, asserted that he first thought that the girl had a toy pistol, but that when she began shooting he rushed out of the Mahanes home to avoid her. He declared that just before the shooting and he pinched her arm, punched her in the ribs and joked her with a view of placating her, but that it was of no avail. Heath said he had been in the habit of delivering mail at the Mahanes home after working hours at the request of the family.

Defense Opens.
Practically the same statement of facts was made by Heath's brother, while he was being taken to Mexico, which also was admitted. The defense in its opening statement to the jury declared that it would prove that the girl shot Heath on the second of two successive visits that he made to the Mahanes home, in which he had placed his arms around the girl and had made improper advances. She shot him the defense alleges in defense of her honor.

George Mahanes, father of the girl, also is charged with first-degree murder in connection with Heath's death on the grounds that he furnished his daughter with the revolver and incited her to shoot Heath.

THREE WOMEN ROB FOURTH OF $38 AT HER HOME

One Too Nervous to Hold Gun Passes It to Companion as Victim Is Scared.

By the Associated Press.
KANSAS CITY, June 3.—Three women entered the home of Mrs. Bertha Peed here yesterday and robbed her of $38.

"Mrs. Peed," said one of the women after ringing her front door bell, "you have some money and we want it."

All three women entered, and one produced a pistol from a handbag.

"Here, Elsie," she said to a comrade, "hold this; I'm too nervous."

"All right, Bessie," replied the other. "You hold her and let Lillian search her."

Lillian found the money in a pocket of Mrs. Peed's dress, and the women departed in haste.

83 ARRESTS MADE IN ANTI-CRIME DRIVE

Thirteen Persons Are Taken Into Custody in Liquor Raids on Saloons and Residences.

Eighty-three arrests were made by the police yesterday in their intensive drive against crime. Thirteen of the arrests were made in liquor raids and three were made in gambling raids. Two men were charged with carrying concealed weapons and 33 were held as holdover suspects. In addition, confessions of guilt were obtained from three highwaymen.

Edward Foerster, bartender in a saloon at 2107 South Broadway, was arrested after two cases of home brew were found in the place. In a saloon at 1101 South Thirtieth street, policemen found a glass of whiskey on the drain board and arrested Nick Kopravica, proprietor.

Bar Owner's Candor.
The candor of Fred Cardosi in answering questions of Patrolmen Orphan and Bates yesterday in his saloon at 3044 Easton avenue led to the failure of the two policemen to get dry law evidence against him. Entering the saloon Bates took two steins from the bar and asked Cardosi what they contained.

"Beer," he said frankly. His candor disarmed Bates. As the officer stood with the steins in his hand Cardosi walked up smiling and with a sudden movement knocked both steins on the floor, spilling their contents. He was arrested but no other evidence than the steins and a glass with a suspicious smell is held in the case.

Frank Betz, barber, was arrested after a racing, form, betting tabs and 21 weather lottery tickets were found in his shop at 415 Lucas avenue.

Liquor Tickets Found.
George Robson was arrested in rear of his home at 2221A Franklin avenue. Detectives who had stopped him found 110 weather lottery tickets in his pockets.

Patrolman Osthoff, seeking a missing man, went to 771 Bayard avenue at noon yesterday. He failed to find the missing man there, but as he talked to Mrs. Mary Goe Foglia, who lives there, his nostrils were assailed with an odor of cooking mash. Osthoff called Police Captain Hannagan and the house was raided.

In it, the police found 13 barrels of mash, a 25-gallon capacity still, and a quantity of wine. Mrs. Foglia and her husband, Joseph Foglia, were arrested.

AGRICULTURAL ASSOCIATION PLANS MARKETING PROGRAM

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, June 3.—The signing by counsel for the Grain Marketing Co. of a stipulation that it shall sell no more stock in Illinois until July 28, was followed late today by an announcement from the Illinois Agricultural Association that it would now turn its attention to a "constructive marketing program."

The Illinois Agricultural Association had petitioned the Illinois Commerce Commission to place the company under its jurisdiction as a public utility, contending that more than $5,000,000 worth of the properties of the company, valued at more than $16,000,000 altogether, were Illinois public elevators, leased by five merged companies, vendors and subleased by the Grain Marketing Co. Under the stipulation signed by counsel for both sides, it was agreed that the case before the commission be continued until July 28, the date when the option of the Grain Marketing Co. on the properties will expire.

URBANA, Ill., June 3.—A record number of Illinois farm boys will try to set their dad's one better in the raising of corn this year, according to early reports on corn club enrollments which are coming in from various counties of the State to E. I. Pilchard, boys' and girls' club work specialist at the College of Agriculture, University of Illinois. Last year's enrollment in corn club work for the entire State already has been more than doubled by the enrollment, which has been reported from six counties, and there are 24 more counties yet to be heard from.

A total of 429 youngsters in De Witt, Clinton, Marshall, Putnam, Green, Christian and Logan Counties have been enrolled in corn club work for the coming year. The 1934 State enrollment in this branch of club work was 177, according to Pilchard.

EDITH GOULD'S Own Story of the LIFE of a RICH GIRL

The Autobiography of a Daughter of One of America's Millionaires.

By Edith Gould Wainwright.

Daughter of George J. Gould and Granddaughter of Jay Gould.

CHAPTER XXI

A T papa's death, naturally, the entire family was thrown into great consternation. The one person who stood out prominently was my sister Marjorie, who had nursed papa for the three months prior to his death, giving every minute of her time to him. She was a veritable pillar of strength and a wonderful comfort to her brothers and sisters in their grief.

I arrived at the villa at Cap Martin, near Monte Carlo, just two weeks before my father died. He already had sunk into the unconsciousness which he never was to throw off, and I am sure he did not know me. But I always will remember his words when I met him in Paris the summer before:

"When I am dead, it will make you happy to remember that you always have done your duty by your father."

He referred to the fact that at the time of his second marriage I remained loyal to him. I knew it would have been my mother's wish.

At the same time papa had gone on to say that, although he had made a great many mistakes in his life, he never had to regret a single one he had done in connection with his father. He said that later on in life it was a wonderful thing to feel that one always had been a dutiful child.

Of course, I think children always should remember the sacrifices that parents make for them when they are young. With very few exceptions, parents do their utmost for their children in accordance with their means.

The wife of one of the world's greatest newspaper men gives up her entire life to the care of her six children, and he, when not occupied with business, is constantly with them, giving them his personal care and attention. Most fathers and mothers are pale and companions to their children as well as just parents.

The trouble is most children do not appreciate them until it is too late. I know that's the way it was with me. Not until mamma and papa were gone forever did I realize how wonderful they had been. All parents, rich or poor, make many, many sacrifices for their children which the latter take absolutely for granted and do not appreciate until they, in turn, are parents. Then they begin to think about what their father and mother did for them when they were small.

No one must ever be deluded with the idea that the children of the rich are, at a tender age, turned over to nurses and governesses and promptly forgotten. Although that is a favorite movie subject, it is seldom found in real life. Mothers who can afford to give their children a great deal have to use thought and care to lead the child's mind to just what it is best suited for. Mamma used to say: "Mother love is the only unselfish love in the world because it gives everything and asks nothing in return."

In spite of all the talk these days about birth control, I believe in large families. It is my opinion, people should have as many children as they can comfortably take care of and do their best by. Children are much happier when brought up with many brothers and sisters. They learn to be unselfish and generous and give up things to one another. There is a friendly rivalry in studies that stimulates learning and the older children feel a great protective interest in the younger ones.

I am sure that people who haven't any children feel that a great deal is missing in their lives. No matter how much we hear about careers for women, I feel woman's real place is in her home caring for her husband and family. She feels happiest then because it is really what women were made for. Many, no doubt, are able to combine home life and a career but these women are in the minority and have remarkable characters.

No it was that the year after I lost my parents I thought more of them and all they had done for me than I ever had before.

WHEN we returned to America after papa's death, we did not know what to do. We had lived with him so long that it seemed strange to be on our own hook again. After he and mamma had forgiven Carroll and me for our elopement and we had returned home to live, papa had permitted me to change anything I bought to him just as he had done before my marriage.

Everything had been planned for my convenience and I really had nearly forgotten to think for myself. In spite of all I had learned while living in Greenwich Village as to the cost of things, two weeks after I had returned home, my sense of values had become blunted. No longer did I have to haggle with the corner grocer about how many apples I could get for a quarter. On the contrary, I chose what I wanted without asking the price. Therefore, when papa's death left me once more to think for myself, it became quite an effort to do so.

I was so broken up that Carroll and I decided to go to Ventnor, adjacent to Atlantic City, where we could rest and recuperate from all the sorrow we had been through. The sea air seemed so good to our little boy that Carroll and I thought seriously of living permanently in the country where Royce would have freedom to run about and live in the fresh air. No self walks from an overheated apartment house to the formally laid out park for him. I wish him to see trees and shrubs and flowers as they grow naturally in the woods without ever having been disturbed by the hand of man. I like to have him around without always having to hold on to the nurse's hand for fear of being run over by automobiles.

Therefore, when we left Ventnor in the fall of 1922, we rented a house at Rye, N. Y. Here we felt we could be in the country and still keep in touch with our friends in New York. This worked out perfectly. Soon we received an invitation from Uncle Howard to spend New Year's with him, which we gladly accepted and sailed soon after Christmas to join him at his place in England.

There we had a real, old-fashioned English New Year's. How glad I was to see my sister, Vivien, who, with her husband, Lord Davies, was among Uncle Howard's guests. She lives in London and sends me a great deal of love. We were glad to see her three lovely children—two girls and a boy.

Uncle Howard has a charming place which he lent to the English Government for a hospital during the World War. As papa used to spend a great deal of his time improving his grounds and gives them a great deal of care.

This visit terminated, we returned to Rye in February, 1924. On April 9 of the same year our second child, a daughter, was born. As we were definitely set on living in the country, we began to look around for a place to buy. It is expensive to rent houses year after year and in the end have nothing to show for it. House hunting is a long and fatiguing procedure, after looking in many places we at last discovered exactly what we wanted.

A little estate "way back in the country" between Greenwich and Stamford, Conn., caught our fancy. It is situated on a hill and overlooks the adjoining valley. In the center there is great skating country, and in summer it is perfectly cool and full of birds and wild flowers. We have a real farm and there is really nothing more interesting and instructive.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

Tea Camouflage.
A slice of orange peel placed in the tea canister will give an imported flavor to domestic tea.

Watch the Vitamins.
Vegetables should be cooked whole and with the skins on when ever possible, to prevent loss of food value.

Cleaner Eggs.
Always wipe off eggs with a dampened cloth when you get them from the farmer and put them away clean. There is nothing so ugly as a bowl of soiled eggs in an otherwise clean refrigerator.

When the Pen Runs Dry.
If your fountain pen runs dry and you have no ink on hand, half fill the pen with water. There are usually enough dried ink crystals in the barrel to make a writing fluid sufficient for your purpose.

Watered Milk.
About the only time milk can be "watered" and the same results obtained is when baking a cake. If you have insufficient milk, fill out with water until the called-for amount is reached. You will never know the difference, except, perhaps, the cake may be a little lighter.

CHAPTER 71. THE HAND OF FATE.

CRAIG CULLAM awoke to another day of merciless heat. New York, even this early in the morning, sweltered under a burnished sky with no prospect of relief in sight. Office buildings and residences were just so much brick and stone to form bake-ovens for suffering humanity.

Roof tops were glazed with the heat and pavements were soft and blistering like hot sealing wax. Cullam managed an unrelieved breakfast of fruit and coffee. He tried to buoy his spirits with the thought that he was sailing at noon, that in a few more hours he would be far out to sea with the cooling breeze of the Atlantic driving even the memory of the heat from his tired brain.

But there was no solace in the thought. He had always before been keen to sail. He loved London. He was fond of sea voyages. Today he knew the futility of anticipating anything but a succession of dark, wretched days, and restless, tossing nights. Days and nights in which the thought of Doris came consciously to torment him. He didn't want to sail. Even though he knew that it was futile to remain, he couldn't bear the thought of putting the wide Atlantic between him and the girl he loved. Even though she hated and despised him, thought of him only with contempt, it was something to know that only a few hours away from her and he would be back to her again. He could even go there unseen and watch her coming and going, serene in her loveliness.

He had been sorely tempted to sneak one last farewell glimpse of her before he sailed, but he told himself that it would only increase his wretchedness. He could visualize her, slender and cool and lovely in some dimly summer gown, surrounded by eager cavaliers with the odious Jervis looming possessively above them all.

Just as he was about to change his light dressing gown for a street suit, his telephone rang. "Had news, Cullam," his manager's voice announced wearily. "That dashed boat had to spring a leak, or just a pump or something, and sailings delayed 24 hours. It's ever hear of such luck, with him?" Cullam accepted the postponement apathetically. It made very little difference to him when, or where, or how, he sailed. "Why don't you cut loose and 'beat something'?" Where's your artistic temperament? Gosh, I could get a press story out of this if you'd help me work it right!"

He rang off in disgust. Cullam flung himself into a chair. Twenty-four more hours in which to torture himself with the proximity of Doris! At that moment, Doris was kissing Mariana good-by and wishing her a happy summer. Charles, standing beside them on the station platform, beamed happily. Two porters laden with baggage hovered patiently in the rear.

"Oh, I do wish you were coming too," declared Mariana, tearfully. "But, when I come back, we must arrange to see each other every day. We've drifted shamefully apart these past years. Promise me that things will be different next winter, if you don't marry Dick Jervis and go for a trip around the world!"

Doris promised. She stood on the platform, very lonely, very forlorn, very wistful of eyes, looking after the train as it disappeared from view around a curve. When she emerged from the station and climbed into her little car, the bells were striking noon.

Nothing Else Like It! Druggists will tell you that nothing soothes, cools and heals sore skin like

TOM-BOY EXTRA SWEET CORN TENDER, FINE FLAVOR SATISFACTION GUARANTEED KNECKLER GROS. CO., Dist.

She drew a deep tremulous breath and the hand on the wheel trembled. The waterfront in New York! A giant liner posing out to sea!

He had gone! Sailed away to fresh triumphs in London! She could do now, what she had known she must do, ever since Charles had told her the truth the day before.

She had gone home and spent the greater part of the night carefully reviewing the events of that disastrous house party when she had believed, so clever was Cullam's acting, that he loved Mariana and that he was the disolute, drunken cad that he pretended.

She had denied herself to Jervis who came confidently calling and, sitting alone in the darkness of her drawing room, she had scourged herself with memories. Memories of how she had refused to see Craig Cullam after the episode of the house party; how she had leaped at conclusions without other verification than her eyes; how she had sweepingly condemned a man who had hitherto been the soul of honesty, loyalty and good breeding!

He had been sacrificing his own reputation, her friendship—she wondered if it had really meant much to him—to save her sister from making a fool of herself. And in return he had not received so much as thanks—only scorn and dismissal!

She burned with shame in the darkness. Shame for Mariana, Charles, herself—that they had accepted so lightly and thanklessly the services of a trustworthy friend!

Her pride of family—almost as strong as the pride which had forced her to conceal from Craig Cullam the fact that she loved him—was outraged.

The problem was no longer the problem of her great, unrequited love for him, she told herself. She must put that away forever. She must dissociate herself now from the friends who gave her proud heart unasked to a man who had never said in words that he wanted it.

She must remember only the Doris who had so complacently accepted Cullam's services for her charities, who had unknowingly allowed him to save her family from scandal and disgrace—and then turned him rudely from her door!

She stropped her way through the darkness to her desk, flashed on the light.

Her eyes fell on the little desk calendar.

It was far out to sea by now. A letter to the Playboys Club would be forwarded. One day, weeks later in London, he would receive her thanks and his vindication.

She selected a pen, drew forward a sheet of notepaper.

Children's Bedtime Story

By THORNTON W. BURGESS.

The White Robin Is Comforted

This week to me is very dear. I'm not alone if I am queer.

Of course no one can be made to feel that they are queer, and because they are queer are not wanted, without having their feelings hurt somewhat. While the Robin whose coat was all white didn't mind so very much being left severely alone by all the other feathered folk, there would be times when he felt badly because he was queer. Of course he didn't consider himself queer, but he knew that his neighbors did.

"If only I could find someone else also queer I would feel a whole lot better," thought the White Robin. "Yes, sir, it would be very comforting to know that someone else is just as queer as I am. But the way everybody acts I guess I am the only one who ever had an odd coat. Yes, sir, I guess I'm the only one."

Now at this time the White Robin happened to be sitting in a tree on the edge of the Green Forest. As always his bright eyes were watching every instant that no enemy might take him by surprise. Suddenly he gave a little gasp, and leaned forward that he might see better. His eyes had caught sight of something moving on the ground just within the Green Forest and that something was white. He blinked his eyes very fast to make sure there was nothing in them and that he was seeing all right. Then he flew over to another tree and as he did so he saw another small person, also dressed all in white, and this small person was scurrying up a tree. When he reached a certain branch he promptly sat up with his back to that branch and a flat, bushy tail curved over his back.

The young Robin caught his breath. "It's a squirrel!" he gasped. "It's a pure white squirrel! I never have heard of such a thing. I never have heard of such a thing, so it can't be, yet it is!"

He flew right over to that very tree. "Who are you?" he demanded bluntly and most importantly.

The little stranger, in white stared at him very hard. "I don't know that it is any business of yours who I am. But if you really want to know, I'm a Red Squirrel."

"You're not, either. You're a Father is Chatterer, the Squirrel and if that doesn't me a Red Squirrel I don't what would. Who are you?"

"I'm a Robin," was the reply.

"You're not either," said the White Squirrel. "I've heard of a Robin with a coat!"

"Whenever heard of a Squirrel with a white coat," started at each other. It had to each that here was some who knew exactly how this felt.

"Say," said the Squirrel, "do this call queer?"

The young Robin added head. "They certainly do," he said.

"And do they refuse to anything to do with you?" demanded the young Robin.

The young Robin confessed this was the case. The white squirrel and it was a happy "Do you know," said the feeling comforted.

"Why are you feeling so?" demanded the young Robin. "Because you are queer," replied the young Robin.

"No such thing, I'm not scattered the white Squirrel jerked his white tail as if would jerk it apart. "I'm queer than you are."

"But I am queer," replied young Robin. "ANYWAY, what everyone says. But I feel better."

"You're not, either. You're a

Then for a full minute the two stared at each other. It had come to each that there was some one who knew exactly how the other felt.

The young Robin confessed that this was the case. Then he sighed and it was a happy sigh. "Do you know," said he, "I'm feeling comforted?"

MEDITATIONS OF A MARRIED WOMAN

By HELEN ROWLAND

LAZINESS, BY ANY NAME

THIS is an age of efficiency, "pep," high-pressure nerves and high-power vitality!

How we DO love to boast of our energy, our speed, our 'cold plunges, our super-men and our super-women!

But ARE we so "super"—shush!—or are we just lazy?

We are too lazy to control our children. So we let them do as they please, eat what they please, say what they please and make themselves as ridiculous as they please—and call it "self-expression!"

We are too lazy to make our poetry rhyme. So we write it without rhyme or rhythm or beauty—and call it "free verse."

We are too lazy to learn to draw. So we make a few cubes on a canvas, splash on a few primary colors—and call it "Futurism."

Men are too lazy to face marriage and the struggle of supporting a family and women are too lazy to face the burden of rearing children and keeping house for a man. So most of them stay single—and call it "independence."

Those of us who do marry are too lazy to make the effort to adjust ourselves to each other. So we rush to the divorce courts—and call it "incompatibility."

We are too lazy to walk. So we ride in taxicabs and automobiles and grow FAT—and then resort to massage and dieting to keep us from arterio sclerosis.

We are even too lazy to endure the high-pressure emotions and raptures of REAL LOVE. So we run for our lives when we see it coming and just play along with a lot of little imitation loves—and call it "living our own lives!"

We are too lazy to exercise our spiritual natures. So we stay away from church and spend our Sundays on the golf links—and call it "getting next to nature."

We are even too lazy to FLIRT. So we pass over all the hors d'oeuvres of romance—and get right down to the petting party and the kiss!

Efficient? Peppy? Energetic? Oh, well! that to the insomnia! It's a beautiful bedtime story!

We are probably the laziest generation that ever graced this gracious old world. We are all acquiring atrophy of the spiritual nature, hardening of the emotions and tonsillitis of the EGO!

We are victims of the great god Laziness! Copyright, 1925.

What Those Who Have Reduced

Have To Say About SAN-GRINA

That's What Counts!

YOU ARE TOO FAT, but you hesitate to reduce because you know so many worthless things have been offered to the public that you are skeptical. Yet to-day there is a way for you to get slender and healthy with a new and ABSOLUTELY SAFE French discovery which has already created a tremendous demand all over the United States.

If you know of one or two women who have reduced with SAN-GRINA, you'll say, "MAYBE I SHOULD TRY IT!" If you know of ten or twenty, you will begin to think that the product has some merit, but if you know that HUNDREDS of men and women have reduced and improved their health, that reliable physicians, nurses, druggists, hospital specialists, recommend SAN-GRINA to reduce, THEN YOU KNOW THAT YOU SHOULD TRY IT!

- "I HAVE LOST 23 POUNDS," Mrs. J. R. Wilson, of Hamlin, Texas, writes.
- "I HAVE LOST OVER 20 POUNDS," Mrs. Chester McGeorge, of Boyne City, Mich.
- "I HAVE LOST 10 POUNDS," Mrs. E. B. Cox, of Los Angeles, Calif.
- "I AM DOWN TO 150 POUNDS FROM 190," writes Mr. E. Tilden, of Laconia, N. H.
- "FROM 180 DOWN TO 134," writes Mrs. H. Cox, from Middlesex, Pa.
- "I LOST 14 POUNDS IN TEN DAYS," writes Miss M. Hay, from Vancouver.
- "I LOST 63 POUNDS," writes Mrs. M. D. Pasquale, of Worcester, Mass.
- "I LOST 50 POUNDS IN 8 WEEKS," says Mme. Elaine, of 1819 Broadway, N. Y. City.

"SAN-GRINA is the most wonderful discovery ever made. Before I used it I was almost an invalid—a failure at home and in business. To-day I look and feel years younger. Every time I meet a fat woman on the street I wish I could tell her to go into the nearest drug store and get a package of SAN-GRINA." The transformation a fat person can go through with it is simply marvelous!

BUY EGGS FOR NEXT WINTER

By HANNAH WING

ONE way to save money on the food budget is to buy next winter's supply of cooking eggs now while they are both cheap and plenty.

Only absolutely fresh eggs should be preserved. If there is any doubt as to the freshness of the eggs, they should be candied. Dirty eggs, or eggs that have been washed, should not be used. Washed eggs will not keep because the protective coating has been removed by the washing, and dirty eggs will become tainted in flavor. Infertile eggs rather than fertile eggs are better for preserving.

If one uses the commercial water glass, which may be bought at any drug store, three-quarters of a quart of water glass should be mixed with nine quarts of pure water. Water that has been boiled and then cooled is preferable. The mixture should be stirred until the ingredients are thoroughly mixed. A water glass in powder form has been put on the market. This is satisfactory for use if directions are followed.

A clean stone jar is the most suitable container. One eight-gallon jar is sufficient for 15 dozen eggs; this quantity will require the amount of solution just prescribed. The eggs should be placed in the water glass so that those at the top are covered by at least two inches of the liquid. The jar had best be covered in order to prevent evaporation. The jar needs to be stored in a cool place where it will be undisturbed during the year.

Those who depend upon cold storage eggs for cooking purposes will be relieved to learn that, according to latest reports, eggs kept in cold storage in a frozen condition for as long as nine months still have a potent supply of the A vitamins.

Pay Attention to Sleep if You Wish to Retain Beauty

By LUCREZIA BORI. The Famous Spanish Prima Donna

SLEEP is such an important beauty factor that I marvel at the disregard of its importance by women who prize their good looks as they should be prized.

LUCREZIA BORI

Of course most of us can trace our good feeling or our lack of it directly to the amount of sleep we have had. We know from experience that on the day after we have been up quite late we seldom feel as well as we do after a good night's sleep.

However, it is inevitable that we must stay up late sometimes, and this will not hurt us materially if we make up for the sleep we have lost at another time. Most of us go out sometimes at night and we find it enjoying our general spirits to enjoy a pleasant evening in company with friends. If we go to a party that keeps us up late into the night, we should arrange to get more sleep the next night if we can.

The amount of sleep we have affects our health quickly. For instance, the person who loses sleep feels generally dejected in spirit and the direct effects are visible in the lack-luster appearance of their eyes, the sallowness of their skins and the dullness of their hair.

When we reflect on these results of too little sleep, we realize fully of what paramount importance it is in our eyes, and we should feel that we must sit down immediately and plan our days and nights so that there will be plenty of time for health and beauty sleep.

The woman who has a chance to take a refreshing nap in the afternoon will find it an invaluable beauty aid. It enables her to feel fresh for the evening, and to meet whatever circumstances that come up, trying or otherwise, with vigor and interest. Many women who go in a great deal for social activities that keep them out late at night find the afternoon nap, or rest, an invaluable aid.

However, there are many, many women who are far too busy to think of lying down or napping in the daytime. Of course, the thousands of girls and women who work in offices have no time for such a luxury as this. It is more important than ever for them that they should get their full quota of sleep at night.

Eight or nine hours is needed by most of us, varying with our dispositions and states of health. I am going to give here simple aids for the woman who has difficulty in sleeping, once she has gone to bed at night.

In the first place, much of this difficulty often comes from a lack of fresh air in the room. If you have an abundance of fine, fresh air all about you, sleep will come with much greater ease and rapidity. Use plenty of cover and raise your windows high, only avoiding any draft upon your head and shoulders.

Another excellent inducer of sleep for the person who suffers from lack of it is to take a walk in the open before you go to bed at night and then drinking a glassful of warm milk just before you get into bed.

What to Serve Tomorrow

BREAKFAST.

- Sliced oranges.
- Brans cereal.
- Scrambled eggs.
- Bacon.
- Toast.
- Coffee, cocoa, milk.

LUNCHEON.

- Cold meat sandwiches.
- Sautéed carrots.
- Charlotte russe.
- Coffee, tea, milk.

DINNER.

- Beef turnover with carrots and peas.
- Mashed potatoes.
- Sliced tomato salad.
- Brownies.
- Coffee, tea, milk.

Sautéed Carrots. Cook carrots until tender. Cut in halves lengthwise, roll in fine cornmeal and brown in iron spider in hot bacon fat. A teaspoon of sugar sprinkled over each spiderful helps in the browning and brings out the flavor.

Brownies.

To one cup of sugar add four tablespoonfuls of melted butter, 1 egg, 2 ounces of chocolate melted over hot water, 1 teaspoonful of vanilla, ½ cupful of flour and ½ cupful of broken nut meats. Line a square shallow pan with waxed paper, turn in the mixture. Spread evenly in the pan and bake in a slow oven. Cut into squares when done.

Another excellent inducer of sleep for the person who suffers from lack of it is to take a walk in the open before you go to bed at night and then drinking a glassful of warm milk just before you get into bed.

Cheese Roast.

Open and drain a small can of tomatoes, then chop the solid part. Mince fine a Spanish onion and mix with the tomato, adding a minced red pepper, a half cupful of minced white celery tops and a teaspoonful each of chopped parsley and chives. Add pepper, salt and a quarter cupful of sugar. Take four cupfuls of stale fine crumbs and mix with them a cupful of ground sharp cheese. Butter a pudding dish and put in alternate layers of the crumbs and the tomato mixture, dot the top with little lumps of butter, then moisten slightly with a half cupful of the tomato juice beaten with a fresh egg. Bake 15 to 20 minutes, according to the heat of the oven. Serve in place of meat.

That is the appeal of the Boulevard Protection Association, which has obtained signatures to a petition for the preservation of the character of the boulevard as a street lined with buildings of dignified character.

Circulation of the petition began last October, after the supreme court had declared the existing law invalid and thus opened all sections of the city to the construction of buildings of any height, without regard to the zone in which they were erected. With a new law now in effect, many business men are taking advantage of the situation to erect on boulevard property buildings not in keeping with the accepted character of the boulevard.
